tools &c had to be kept in the store room at Palni, as the investigation was incomplete, it was not advisable to vacate the store shed, as the records &c must be kept near the site of the work for reference and they could not be carried backwards and forwards from Palni to Dindigul and back whenever they were required and the records were numerous and the cost of cartage would far exceed that of the rent now paid for the store shed. As there was no Government building, one had to be hired for the purpose.
