NOTE BY TECHNICAL SECTION.

Name of work Senate House at Madras /

The Registrar of the University of Madras submits the undermentioned four estimates for the approval of the Chief Engineer and states that the Accountant General has been requested to place the necessary funds at the disposal of the P.W.D.

(a) Estimate for erecting gates for closing the road approaches to the Senate House. —— Rs 5315

(b) Estimate for repairs to the Senate House and Revenue Board Latrines Rs 375

(c) Estimate for Conservancy establishment for Senate House and Revenue Board latrines - Rs 524

(d) Estimate for establishment required for cleaning the Senate House Rs 210

Estimate (a) was prepared with reference to G.O. No. 381 W dated 9th February 1899 and provides for closing closing the roads surrounding the Senate house so as to prevent the public traffic owing to the noise of passing carriages &c. disturbing the students when undergoing examination. Provision is made in the estimate for 4 ornamental iron gates each 12 feet wide with cut stone pedestals &c. as detailed in the drawing submitted at points A.B.C & D.

The three other remaining estimates are for periodical repairs to latrines, establishment for the conservancy of the latrines & for cleaning the buildings during the official year 1899-1900.

The rates entered for the gates are fair.

The estimates have been countersigned by the Registrar of the University of Madras.

Stone of Sholinghur stone at Rs 2-8 a c ft seems to me extravagant. Good enough stone I believe available at Pallavaram. Which would be much cheaper. The total amount of this item is Rs 2068

25/8

Ist lieutenant with -mental stone here, & the University can well afford to pay for it

I believe Sholinghur stone is cheaper than Pallavaram
