In reply to your letter No. 3426, dated the 21st July last, I am directed to say that the Government of Bombay have correctly interpreted the orders contained in the second sentence of paragraph 2 of my letter No. 774, dated the 15th April 1899, to mean that "the privilege leave or furlough allowed to any officer as one of the concessions specified in paragraph 2 of Government of India Resolution No. 5047-P., dated the 15th November

1897, may be granted at any time for plague services rendered at any time before the 29th June 1900." As suggested in paragraph 4 of your letter, this ruling should be read subject to a proviso similar to that contained in paragraph 3, clause (iv) of the Resolution of the 15th November 1897, that is to say, the leave may, with the consent of the Local Government, be enjoyed after the 29th June 1900 in cases where the exigencies of the public service have necessitated the refusal of leave when applied for, and have thus prevented the grant of the full concessions earned within the prescribed period.

2. With regard to the remarks in paragraph 3 of your letter I am to say that the grant of local allowances to medical officers under the conditions stated in the letter

* Communicated to other Local Governments and Administrations with letter Nos. 1683-1693 of the same date. to the Government of Madras, No. 1682,* dated the 1st December 1898, takes the place of the grant of special leave concessions. The Government of Bombay have therefore correctly read the last sentence of paragraph 2 of my letter under notice as indicating that "for the future plague duty performed in addition to ordinary work is to be remunerated specially (if sufficiently arduous to deserve special remuneration) by the grant of special allowances during the performance of such duty instead of leave concessions subsequently enjoyable." It should be noticed that extra allowances for plague duty in addition to ordinary work are, under present orders, admissible only to medical officers, and cannot be extended to any other officers or classes of officers without the special sanction of the Government of India and, if necessary, of the Secretary of State.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

READ—again the following papers:—

G.O., No. 982, Financial, dated 25th November 1897.

ABSTRACT.—Directing the publication in three consecutive issues of the Fort St. George Gazette of the Resolution of the Government of India stating that the Secretary of State has sanctioned certain concessions to officers employed on duties connected with famine relief or the plague.

G.O., No. 622, Financial, dated 18th July 1898.

ABSTRACT.—Communicating to the departments of the Secretariat and to all heads of departments under the Chief Secretary resolution of the Government of India regarding the scope and interpretation of the orders contained in Resolution, No. 5047 P., dated 15th November 1897, granting certain concessions to officers employed on duties connected with famine relief or the plague.

READ—also the following paper:—

From A. H. L. FRASER, Esq., C.S.I., Officiating Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department—Public, to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Madras, dated Simla, 15th April 1899, No. 773.

I am directed to state that the question has been raised for how long the special leave concessions for plague work granted by the Resolutions of the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce, No. 5047 P., dated the 15th November 1897, and No. 2852 P., dated the 29th June 1898, shall continue.

2. The Government of India have decided that the period of the concessions shall run for two years from the issue of the Resolution of the 29th June 1898. The special leave may, under these orders, be taken at any time before the 29th June 1900 for plague service rendered at any time before that date. The concession will not be continued beyond the year 1900, because it was intended as a reward for special services rendered during the stress of a temporary calamity; and the Government of India have recognized that it is no longer possible to treat plague duty in this manner by relaxing the orders prohibiting the grant of special allowances to officers appointed to plague duty in addition to their ordinary work.
