FOR ORDERS.

H. E. the Governor

The Executive Engineer Bellary
On deputed his storekeeper, G.
Ramiah, at the request of the Collector Anantapur, to superintend the fitting up of a pump to a well at Guntakal for plague purposes.
The travelling allowance admissible to the subordinate for the journey is, under the Plague Regulations, debitable to the P. W. Department, but the Examiner has withheld final audit to the charge pending the approval of Government. In reply to the enquiry as to the rule or order under which such approval is considered necessary, the Examiner states as follows:-
"No actual rule or order can be quoted in a case of this kind, but it is customary and right that when a member of the P. W. Dept. has been is to be deputed for work pertaining to another Dept^l, involving expense in the shape of travelling allowance chargeable to this Department, the approval of Govt^l should be sought."

It would perhaps be convenient if the Executive or Suptg. Engineer had the power to depute a subordinate to superintend or examine work done by another Dept^l and to pass the requisite travelling allowance. The approval of Govt^l is, it is submitted, likely to be absolutely nominal in such cases, and no real object is gained by such centralization of authority. It is submitted that the Examiner be instructed that the sanction of the Suptg. Engineer should, in such cases, be taken as sufficient authority for the deputation and for the resulting charge on account of travelling allowance.

The cases dealt with by these orders are not analogous to those now under disposal. The Storekeeper in the present case belongs to the ordinary Establishment of the Dept^l, and he comes under the provisions of the Civil Service Regulations, which the workshop men belonging to are charged to "works" i.e. workshops.

It seems to me that an S.E. or S.B. should have the power to depute a subordinate to examine work done by another Dept^l & to pass the usual T. A.
