Native Soldier, who is not permanently domiciled in India, but is explicitly by the terms of his military Contract liable to serve in any part of the world. Respectfully urges that the fact of his service now being temporarily lent to a Civil Department should not militate against his claims; He was sent to an Indian Engineering College as a British Soldier to qualify for an appointment reserved strictly for British Soldiers (vide para 3 of Offg. Chief Secretary to Govt No 1237 A. dated 14th May 1872 Establishment at 31), the fact of its reservation for the class indicated, predicates that it is an appointment in which European Qualification are held to be necessary - on passing his final examination in the College he was appointed to one of these reserved appointments, and your Memorialist therefore Contends that he was appointed to an office confined to men enlisted in the British Army, and being thus appointed especially as a British Soldier he was necessarily appointed as an European for the purpose of the rules in the latest Resolution. He most certainly did not compete for, or gain the appointments as a "Native of India" as is evidenced by the fact that while undergoing his College Course he was receiving the pay and allowances of a Gunner in the Royal Artillery and the College grant of Rs. 10 per mensem Service to British Soldiers while undergoing their College Course and that his wife was in the receipt of the Rs allowance granted to the European wives of British Soldiers and his Children in the receipt of the allowance granted to Children of British Soldiers
