In returning your endorsement No. 1513 Jg. of the 27th Instant, I have the honor to observe that the information therein required in connection with the late bricklayer, Kaluvaroyen, who died of a wound received in the execution of his duty at Upper Ancient works, has been given in para 2 of my letter No. 1916 of the 11th June 1883. There was nothing extraordinary in the work on which the deceased was engaged nor would there have been any real risk had the workmen not been careless.

The deceased was only a day laborer. He had been working for some time at the Upper Ancient.

His family consist of father 70 years old, two sons 4 & 9 years and 3 younger daughters as far as can be ascertained they have no means of support. It is supposed they will be dependent on relatives.

A bricklayer working at the top of one of the vents, in passing a gauge rod, about $7\frac{1}{2}$ long, by 2" square, to a man working below let it fall before the latter was ready to catch it. It struck him on the forehead but to appearance the wound was not a very bad one. The Supervisor was at the anicut but did not witness the accident. After being hurt the stone cutter remained a short time at the Upper anicut and then went to his village; where he was treated by a native physician and died 12 days after the date of his accident. He has left a wife and children.
