Revision

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

C No. 332

From I. G of Police

Dated 26 - 3 — 1897.

FOR ORDERS.

The Inspector Genl of Police forwards an application for Invalid Gratuity to an Inspector of Police.

The character of the Inspector is given as Good. But there are circumstances against him which perhaps ought to be considered in determining whether he merits the discretion of the full penalty admissible under the rules.

These circumstances are set out in detail in the Judgment of the Sessions Court of Vizagapatam in Sessions Case 10 of 1896.

Flag A.

Briefly they are, that the Inspector stated before the committing magistrate in a case of alleged murder that the principal witness for the prosecution had given him (the Inspector) information upon seeing the corpse. This fact was not noted however in the inquest report. So before the Court of Sessions the Inspector apparently to meet the difficulty said the witness gave him the information at the station after the inquest.

The Sessions Judge Mr E.C. Rawson sanctioned + Flag B. the prosecution of the Inspector for fabricating false evidence to procure conviction in a capital charge (§ 194 IPC). The Dist Magte committed him & he was tried by the Sessions Judge of Rajah Mundry Mr H. Morely.

At the trial the Committing magistrate (Valentine) of the murder case was called as 1st Prosecution witness to prove the Inspectors statement before him.

He (the Valentine) prevaricated

& the Sessions Judge concluded that the Inspectors statement to the committing magistrate was not proved. Therefore the contradiction was not proved & the Inspector was acquitted. + vide judgment Flag C.

The other authorities have discovered that the Inspector was afflicted with severe epilepsy & he has been retired.

Whatever the legal aspects of the case may be there can be no doubt the Inspector perjured himself.

When called on to show cause why his prosecution should not be sanctioned, he did not deny having made the statement recorded by the committing magistrate but endeavoured to explain it away as due to excitement. + + Please see para 4 of Flag B.

Further he told the Supt of Police the same story before the difficulty of the Inquest Report arose.

+ Please see Supts report Flag D.

I can not find that the hypothesis of an honest mistake is absolutely conclusively excluded.

Hy/4/17

In the circumstances it is submitted that, although, through the incompetence & carelessness, feigned or otherwise, of the Taluk magistrate, the Inspector has escaped the law's clutches, it is a question whether Government acknowledge him as a meritorious servant by giving him the full amount of gratuity admissible under the rules.

The Inspector fined on the Inspector acquitted can him full back pay on the ground that his misconduct was purely due to illness. + It is submitted that the "illness" was shamefully methodical.

Ulle
28.4.97

The full amount of gratuity admissible is Rs 630.

+Flag E

A/cs from this Inspry case which is not proved. the man knows a how use of deceitful character & I think his gratuity might be reduced by 30 Rs.

25/4/97

The epilepsy accounts for a good deal of this "paying" case. I think a reduction of R 30 will be enough.
