in his tone and language. About the 20th of March he went back to Padalkoor, but instead of going from there to Rapore, he took his wife and children to Sellore, where, as an excuse for his coming there, he told the office Inspector that he had been dismissed. The Superintendent accordingly suspended him from the 14th of March, the date of his original absence till the 31st of June, during the whole of which time (except the last 3 days of the month) he had been absent from his station.

(2) McVie's duty at Rapore from the 1st till 9th of April, he obtained under the false pretence of illness a passport to go to the Sellore Hospital; the Zilla Surgeon detained him only for a day or so, and though the Constable complained of burnings, sent him out to duty and gave him some simple liniment to rub into his side in case there actually was any pain there; this Constable was determined to stay at Sellore, and accordingly applied some very strong irritant to his side, which raised on it a series of huge blisters. He then came to the Superintendent and showed these blisters declaring that the Hospital Medicine had produced them; he was again sent to the Doctor, who wrote saying the man was a thorough malingerer and had himself caused these blisters, that the Hospital Medicine could not have possibly done so, and that there was nothing the matter with the man who had thus again abused himself from the 9th and unpunished himself for duty till the 22nd of April, he was therefore again suspended by the Superintendent from the 9th till 22nd of April. A very false, troublesome and deceitful man and an audaciously bold liar.
