He states he has been suffering from Chronic Rheumatism off and on for several years. Last September he was incapacitated from work; he got 2 months sick leave from June 5th 1898, extended to another two months on Aug 5th 1898, extended again on 5th Oct. to 2 months, & extended again from month on 5th Nov. 1898 - He has been under my observation & treatment as an out-patient off & on since the middle of June last, and during the last month he has been an in-patient in the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore.

from last, and the patient Hospital Berthelmann.
He is much pulled down, is very weak, with M. Crest Difficultly; and has a tottering gait - walks on short distances - complains of severe pain in the muscles of his back, which walking seems to bruise - also in his arms & legs. Joints are not stiff but he does not seem to be making any progress toward improvement, though he has been treated for a long time. He is pale & debilitated & does not even like to move strongly enough to do his duties. I have satisfied myself by keeping him in Hospital that his malady is chronic & not likely to be removed sufficiently to enable him to go about his work.
I therefore consider him to be permanently unfit for any further Service
