9. Abstract statement of case showing how the disease or disability was contracted, the results of the treatment adopted. In case the disease or disability is believed to have been caused by irregular or intemperate habits, the reasons for such belief should be stated.

According to his previous Medical history, he appears to have contracted malarious fever as far back as 1847. This gradually undermined his health and rendered him prone to several ailments, particularly digestive troubles & nervousness. Since March of this year, he has been continuously under treatment for anaemia & Rheumatism, the result of malaria, and has not been able to work. He was then on 3 months privilege leave (subsequently converted into sick leave). He appeared before me for the first time in June last. He was then extremely weak and anaemic - suffered from chronic irritation of the stomach and bowels, rheumatic pains and frequent attacks of fever. I recommended one month's leave, on the expiry of which he again appeared before me. As his condition was not improved I considered it necessary that he should have a further extension of one month. He now comes before me in much the same state. He is very nervous heart's action weak. In spite of careful and regular treatment, the diarrhoea appears to have become chronic & he is showing signs of piles. His digestion is much impaired. Rheumatic pains are also assuming a chronic nature. He is in consequence incapable of any exertion, and as he is not likely to recover his health sufficiently to render him fit for duty, I consider he should be invalided & accordingly grant him the accompanying certificate.
