Note

Mr. Dias, a superannuated pensioner, was reemployed in the Civil & Military Station Municipality on the 25th Jan^y 1899, as auditor, to audit the Plague accounts which were then under Municipal Control. Subsequently, i.e. from 9th April 1899, —

NOTE FOR THE C. A.

The petitioner, Mr. J. Dias, is a superannuated pensioner of the Madras Government, who retired from service on 15th January 1898. Immediately after retirement, he took employment under the President of the Municipality, Civil and military stations, Bangalore as an auditor in the Plague Department. The G. & S. subsequently ordered that the expenditure connected with plague at Bangalore should be met from the revenues of the assigned tract of the C. M. Station, Bangalore, instead of from the Municipality, and transferred the audit of the accounts to the Accountant General, Madras. The services of Mr. Dias, however, were retained in the Plague office on public grounds from 9-4-99 to 31-7-99 and sanction for the retention was obtained from the Resident in Mysore.

2. Under Ark 5752579 C.S.R. a superannuated pensioner though excluded from reemployment in the General Service, can be reemployed, without loss of pension, in service paid from a Local Fund, provided that

(1) the employment is bonafide temporary, lasting for not more than a year;

(2) the employment is supported by the sanction of the Local Government, which should be given only on strong public grounds.

3. Condition 1 is satisfied in this case.

4. As regards condition 2, the A.G. holds that the sanction accorded by the Resident is not enough and that sanction of the Government which ordered the petitioner's pension in the Madras Government is necessary; and for this reason, ~~the~~ A.G. has retrenched the pension of the petitioner from July last.

Please see page 4 of the current.

5. In these circumstances, the petitioner prays for the sanction referred to above.
