Chingleput Sessions
Court 2nd July 1857.

From,
W. Dowdeswell Esqre.
Sessions Judge of Chingleput

To,
J. Rohde Esqre.
Inspector of Prisons.

Sir,

I have the honor to inform you that Veerasawmy Naick the Jemadar of this Jail is an old man having served more than 32 1/2 years and from his age, want of education and his having been for so many years accustomed to the old lax system of management is quite incapable of assisting the Jailer in carrying into execution the reforms you have proposed and which I am satisfied will tend greatly to improve the Jail discipline if properly and efficiently carried out but this can only be done by selecting proper and able assistants to the Jailer.

2. This Veerasawmy Naick has informed me he is willing to retire if he can obtain a gratuity to enable him to support himself and as he has not committed any fault

which

which would warrant my dismissing him I request you will sanction my removing him from his situation and that you will obtain for him such gratuity as he may be entitled to under the gratuity Rules.

3. A statement shewing his service is hereunto annexed.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your Most Obedient Servant.

Sir,

I have the honor to forward a copy of an application from the Sessions Judge of Chengleput for a gratuity to Veerasawmy Naick the Naib Jailer or Jemadar of that Jail.

2. Mr. Dowdeswell has repeatedly told me that this officer has an influence with the Prisoners consequent on long and intimate association and that this influence has often been shewn in a mode by no means favorable to discipline.

3. This fault is perhaps quite as much owing to the system that has long prevailed as to any other causes, I have no doubt however of the correctness of the statement, that his removal will tend to the improvement

improvement of discipline and that he is after being long accustomed to a lax system, inadequate to the duties required, his long service of upwards of 32 years justify the request for gratuity which will amount to 182 Rupees subject to correction by the Civil Auditor.
