Sir,

1. I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of Extract Minutes of Consultation of 5th Instant, N^o 130 (Separate) Public Depart^{ts}, instructing me not to fill up the appointment of attender in my Office recently vacated by Isiah Moodelly, without reason being shewn for the necessity for its continuance, noticing the advanced age at which this person was first entertained in this Office.

2 I have the honor to explain the case more fully than I considered necessary before, as the Gratuity Rules required but 5 years of unblemished service to entitle an Uncomenanted servant to a gratuity. Isiah Moodelly first entered the Office in December 1828, as

French

French Translator, on Rupees 30. That place was abolished a year afterwards. In November 1833, he was again employed as writer in the Bond Department on Rupees 14½, and remained for about 6½ years. He then went on leave to Pondicherry his native place, but over-staying his leave, he forfeited his appointment. In 1848, he memorialized the Government to reinstate him, and they, in Extract Minutes of Consultation, November 1848, No. 990, Public Department, "Resolved that the Petitioner Syah Moodelly be informed, in reply to his Petition, that the Accountant General has been pleased to state that he will bestow upon the Petitioner the situation of an attender in his Office on the occurrence of a vacancy." Accordingly on a vacancy occurring, my predecessor appointed Syah Moodelly as attender on the 25. May 1849.

and disadvantageous, I think, to the Government interests. It has hitherto been one of admitted necessity. The object of its institution was to facilitate work by relieving the clerks from the necessity of constantly quitting their seats, in search of papers and accounts required by them. The time lost by clerks with salaries much higher than his, in going after documents which the attender supplies, would be far more costly to the State.
