he was without employment for a period of one year, ten months, and seven days, vizt from 1st April 1844 to 7th February 1846. This break in his service was caused by the abolition of the Survey Establishment in which he was then employed; subsequently, he was employed as a writer, on the 8th February 1846, in the Collector's office. I am therefore of opinion that the whole period of the applicant's service may be reckoned towards his pension.

5 The applicant's character and conduct have been generally good. I therefore think him entitled to the favourable consideration of Government, and beg to recommend that he be allowed a pension of Rupees 8, being one third of the average salary which the applicant received during the five years preceding the date of his application, and that the pension be made payable through the Treasury of this Collectorate, from the the 1st July 1860, the date on which the applicant was relieved from his duties.
