The Memorial of William Harbes, pensioned Sergeant Major of the Madras Engineers, and Beadle of St. Mary's Church Fort St. George.

Humbly Sheweth,

That Your Memorialist entered the late Hon. East India Company's Military Service on the 1st October 1813, and arrived at Madras in July the year following. That he was promoted to Corporal on the 1st January 1818, and to Sergeant on the 15th June 1819. That in 1822 on account of the valuable service rendered by him in superintending the the important works for keeping out the sea which had encroached upon the Fort and Beach to an alarming extent, he was transferred to the corps of Engineers and appointed Sergeant Major on the 3d September 1823, in which Department he rendered valuable service up to January 1839, a period of 18 years, when he retired from active employment on the pension authorized to Sergeants of the late East India Company: viz: 30Rs per mensem. That he will not occupy your valuable time with an enumeration of all the various works he superintended and executed; suffice it to say, he instructed a part of the Corps of Sappers and miners in blasting and boring and subsequently to his retirement superintended the construction of the foot-ways of the Wallajah bridge, his service being rendered gratuitously during a period of ninety three days. That in addition to the onerous and responsible duties of Sergeant Major of the Engineers Your Memorialist was appointed in 1830 to the office of Beadle of St. Mary's Church Fort St George, the duties of which he performed to the entire satisfaction of the several Garrison Chaplains under whom he was placed. That Your Memorialist has served the State for the unprecedentedly long period of 48 years with ability diligence and integrity for which many of his superior officers both

India and England are fully able to vouch. That Your Memorialist is now after his long and arduous career oppressed with the infirmities of age being in his 72d year and contemplates shortly retiring from his office of Beadle of the Garrison Church and spending his remaining days in rest and retirement, grateful to the State for its long continued entertainment of his services, and with the satisfactory conviction that nothing during his long career has ever tempted him to swerve from the path of rectitude in the performance of his various duties. That the late Court of Directors as well as Her Majesty's Government have from time to time marked their appreciation of the services of their old and faithful servants of the class to which Your Memorialist belongs by assigning to them a special retiring allowance in addition to the Pensions of which they were previously in receipt. Your Memorialist begs to instance the case of Mr. Jailer Gibbs and Mr. Constable Spenser to whom special allowances have been sanctioned; and also to draw attention to the increase from 30 Rs to 45 made respectively in the Pensions of Sergeants Lowe, Sims and O'Bryan, Military Pensioners. That with these precedents in view and taking into consideration the long period, nearly half a century, Your Memorialist has faithfully and diligently served the State, he solicits that you will be pleased either to increase his Military Pension of 30 Rs per mensem, or to assign to him such allowance for his 31 years service as Beadle of the Garrison Church of St Mary Fort St George as you may consider adequate.

And Your Memorialist will as in duty bound ever pray.
