Memo:

The applicant for pension in this case has served 30 years 11 months and 21 days.

There are three breaks in the service. The first, by resignation, does not affect his claim to pension, because the service immediately preceding it, viz: 11 months & 14 days was not in a qualifying grade.

The 2^d break was from 1st Sept. 1849 to 16th May 1850. This was the result of suspension on account of neglect of duty. He was restored after the latter date. The Dy. Asst. Genl. submits that the man was not suspended, but dismissed, and subsequently reappointed.

The Col. he says that no order was issued on the occasion, and that it cannot now be ascertained whether his removal was a mere temporary suspension or a dismissal, but he adds that in the Talced issued on Astor's restoration it is stated that his having been out of employ for the period in question is is "sufficient punishment for the neglect of duty for which he was removed".

This would seem to favor the supposition that Krishna Rao was only suspended in the absence of any positive record, the presumption of the Dy. Secy. Genl. is evidently untenable.

Adopting Mr. Taylor's interpretation, only 11-1-11 of Krishna Rao's service will remain to count for pension, and for this he can get no more than a maximum gratuity of 12 months pay.

The question is submitted for orders - Mr. Reade (Coln. 9) speaks well of the conduct and character of Krishna Rao, and recommends him for a pension.

The 3rd break in the service was owing to abolition of office.

Dated Cuddalore 10th January 1866 No 3.
Your office letter No 4056 dated 4th Instant.

As already stated in Col 4 of the Register, of application, no order or Takeed issued at the time that Krishna Rao was thrown out of employ, is to be found in the Records and consequently it cannot be ascertained why he was then removed from office and whether the removal was intended to be a mere temporary suspension or dismissal; but in the Takeed issued subsequently restoring him to service though in a lower appointment, it is stated that his having been out of employ up to that date is sufficient punishment for the neglect of duty for which he was removed.

There are no papers besides the Takeed of restoration alluded to above, to show that he really was suspended only, and not dismissed.
