Sir,

I have the honor to forward for submission to Government an application for gratuity on behalf of Awikiam late a Binder in the Government Press.

The circumstances of this man's dismissal are somewhat peculiar. He was found to be afflicted with leprosy in the hands, and a Certificate to that effect was obtained and is enclosed.
His presence in the Office was much objected to by his fellow workmen, and the Superintendent acting under a feeling in which, I fancy, all Europeans share, that handling books bound by a man suffering from a loathsome disease like leprosy would be so extremely unpleasant to the Secretaries to Government and those Officers for whom this man worked, as to be practically unbearable, he dismissed him, and on his appealing to me, I felt bound to confirm his

Dismissal.

It appears to me that under the unstances this man has produced medical certificate which will satisfy the Government of his capacity to serve them any longer as book binder, and I have therefore the honor to request that the gratuity to which, as I read the rules, he is entitled, may be granted to him.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Yours obdt. servant,
