ORDER THEREON, 13th October 1870, No. 540.

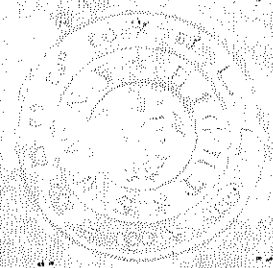

The Government decline to entertain this application for gratuity which is presented thirteen years after the applicant was thrown out of employ. The reason for the grant of gratuity to persons thrown out of employ, viz., that the recipients may support themselves for a short time sufficient to enable them to obtain some means of livelihood entirely fails in the present case.

Acting Register to the Court of Sudder Adalat

To

George Ellis Esquire

Acting Civil Judge of Muddalore

Sir,

In reply to your letter of the 9th September last and the 2nd instant, I am directed by the Judges of the Sudder Adalat to inform you that they do not consider the Ructavan's length of service, to be in itself a sufficient ground for recommending the continuance of his services, after they have been declared to be unnecessary, but that, as he appears to be an intelligent person, a fitting opportunity might be taken to employ him in some other capacity.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant
