He took sick leave in June 1867 and his son was appointed to act for him; subsequently his son was confirmed; and it would appear that Konu Nair was called on to produce a medical Certificate to submit the requisite application for gratuity. Konu Nair says he fell sick soon after and was laid up for nearly two years; and that thus he was unable to produce the medical certificate in time. He submitted the medical certificate only in April last and as the delay was due to causes beyond his control, an application was forthwith prepared on his behalf and submitted from this Office.

Sir

With reference to your Official Memo No 48 dated 6th Ultimo, I have the honor to state that Komu Nayar took sick leave on 1st July 1867 and employed his son as his substitute. On the expiry of his leave, Komu Nayar not having been able to attend to his duties owing to his continued illness, his name was struck off the Establishment List from 1st November 1867 and his son confirmed in a lower post.

There is nothing on record to show whether the retirement was in any way conditional.

In all probability the permanent deposition from office would not have been acquiesced acquiesed in unless the son had been appointed, but if any thing to this effect passed at the time, it must have been verbally only.

Report of the Examiner of Claims

The services of the withinmentioned individual having been verified from the records of the Collector's Office, he will be eligible to the amount of gratuity set opposite to his name in Column 11 of the register under the old rules should Government be pleased to accept the explanation given in item 7 of the register, regarding the breaks in the service and that given in the Collector's reply dated 28th June 1870 No. 1928 regarding the delay in the submission of application and in production of medical certificate.

There appears to be a difference between the present case and those disposed of by orders dated 9th September 1867 No. 269 and 11th May 1870 No. 206, so that the rulings therein have not been applied in this instance.

ORDER of GOVERNMENT. 14th November 1870 No. 616.

It is to be presumed that had the applicant been compelled to retire in Novr. 1867, he would have been sent for medical examination before his name was struck off the list. The fact that the medical certificate was not obtained for ~~the~~ a long time after his retirement impairs its worth,⊗ and strengthens the presumption above mentioned.
