Your most Obedt Servt
Major
for Inspector General of Police

Memo for orders.

Orders are requested on the following case:—

A Police Constable after serving for years 2-8-1 was dismissed for "wilful negligence in permitting a prisoner charged with dacoity to escape from custody." After 10 months 15 days, he was re-enlisted, under circumstances not on record, but, the present Acting Superintendent believes, such as extenuated his fault. After re-entertainment the constable served for $\overset{y.}{6}.\ \overset{m.}{3}.\ \overset{d.}{28}$. If allowed to count his service previous to dismissal, he is eligible for a maximum gratuity of Rs 56, or eight months pay; if not allowed, he is entitled to nothing.

2. It has never been distinctly decided whether the ordinary rule by which dismissal entails forfeiture of previous service is applicable to police constables. In one case, it was held that it was, but the decision was rested on the special ground that the applicant had been magisterially convicted of a criminal offence, viz. taking a bribe. In a case which since arose, where the dismissal was for breach of departmental duty and the interval between dismissal and re-enlistment was very short (not two months) it was viewed as a suspension and the difficulty thus got over. In the present case, the offence if really committed, might have been the subject of a criminal conviction, and the interval of non employment is considerable. Orders are requested whether gratuity should be allowed and if so, by what amount the maximum should be reduced.

I would let

3. The Police Superannuation rules contain no distinct provision on the point raised, but as the amounts fixed in the rules are maxima, within which it is expressly provided that Govt. is to have a discretion, it would seem that the intention was that the ordinary principles as to approved service, of which the rule as to dismissal is one, should apply. Govt. is unquestionably competent under the Superannuation rules to apply the general rule & to refuse gratuity.

4. Another application is now submitted on behalf of a constable who has served for 9 y. 10 m. 12 d. but who was once degraded for "gross neglect of duty." I submit that as the man has nearly served for a gratuity of 10 months pay, & as his conduct has been good, the gratuity for which he has subscribed need not be reduced.

I concur

Submits appli=cations for the grant of gratuities to 2 Con=stables of the Kurnool Police -

With an order No 663

To The Supt Genl of Police
" Accountant General
Collector of Kurnool

Register for entry Decd 25/11.

Order thereon 25th November 1870 No 663.

The Government observe that the Constable Syed Mohidin was ^once^ dismissed, but was re-enlisted & served for 6y. 3m 28d. subsequently. The Govt. will not regard the dismissal in the present case as entailing forfeiture of the applicants previous service; and (as the subsequent service is less than 7 years), as thus depriving ~~the constable~~ him of all right to gratuity; but resolve to fix the gratuity at 6 months pay or Rs 42 which is sanctioned.

2. A gratuity of ~~[illegible]~~ nine months pay or Rs 54, is assigned to Khadar Hussein. As this individual has served 9.10.12 a period nearly sufficient to entitle him to a gratuity of ten months pay, the Govt. have ~~[illegible]~~ ^sanctioned^ ~~[illegible]~~ the full amount recommended without reference to the degradation undergone by the applicant during his service
