which was reported in my letter No. 345 of 21st January

you. I forward his letter (in original) in support of it.

Sir
With reference to certain doubts of the Accountants General in regard to a break in my Service, permit me to state that in Decr 1857 I went to Moorhead consequently on the short illness of my Brother on six months leave On returning to Moorhead to resume my duties I was informed by the Manager of the Office Mr. Baker that my situation was disposed of during my absence No reason was assigned for this act of injustice, but I was told that if I wished to accept a break moiety of my salary. I could remain in the office - to the arrangements I could not with propriety consent. I received no gratuity nor was I dismissed.

Any man situated as I was, and having my regards for himself, would have acted just as I had done. I was thus without employment for seven years. Hence the break in correspondence as far as I am aware passed on that occasion and I think none could have passed considering the summary style in which I was dealt with.

I trust you will be so good as to bring these circumstances to the notice of the Admiralty.
