Proceedings of the Madras Government, Pension Department, 23rd September 1873. No. 491.

Pensions.

Read letter from J. H. MASTER, Esq., Collector of Bellary, to the Honorable W. HUDLESTON, Chief Secretary to Government, Fort St. George, dated Bellary, 21st August 1873, No. 47.

In paragraph 2 of the Proceedings of Government, No. 432, dated 18th August 1873, my attention has been called to the non-submission of the Service book of a Peon whom I recommended for a gratuity.

2. The Accountant-General had already called my attention to the omission, and, in reply, I referred him to Section 69 of the Civil Pension Code, where the maintenance of Service books for inferior servants is evidently not contemplated.

3. Even if it were, to prepare upwards of 800 (that being about the number of the subordinates including peons on the Revenue Establishment generally) Service books would involve an amount of labor which, I suppose, could scarcely have been contemplated, and which I need not point out could scarcely be performed by my office establishment who have as much work to do as can possibly be expected of them.

4. I beg therefore to be furnished with explicit instructions whether it is the intention of Government that Service books should be maintained for the inferior servants in this establishment.

ORDER THEREON, 23rd September 1873, No. 491.

The Government observe that Section 69 expressly excludes certain classes of inferior servants, but directs that Service books shall be kept for all others.

Sir,

In para 2 of the Proceedings of Government No. 432 dated 18th August 1873, my attention has been called to the non-submission of the Service book of a person whom I recommended for a gratuity.

2. The Accountant General had already called my attention to the omission and in reply I referred him to Section 69 of the Civil Pension Code, where the maintenance of service books for inferior servants is evidently not contemplated.

3. Even if it were to prepare upwards of 800 (that being about the number of the subordinates including persons on the Revenue Establishment generally) service books would involve an amount of labour which I suppose could scarcely have been contemplated, and which I need not point out could scarcely be performed by my office Establishment who have as much work to do as can possibly be expected of them.

4. I beg therefore to be furnished with explicit instructions whether it is the intention of Government that Service Books should be maintained for the inferior servants in this Establishment.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most Obedient Servant.

PROCEEDINGS of the MADRAS GOVERNMENT.

Read the following letter

From the Collector of Bellary dated 21st August 1873 N^o 47.
Order thereon 23rd September 1873 N^o 491.

The Government observe that Section 69 expressly excludes certain classes of inferior servants but directs that service books shall be kept for all others.

Note

This Government remonstrates against this provision before the Code was published but no notice whatever was taken of their remonstrance, although their views had been expressly asked for.
