with reference to
Read petition from Sheik Mohideen dated 25 Sept.
1873 No 2392.

Sheik Mohideen,
a pensioned jemadar in South Canara, prays for an increase of pension
from half to full pay.
It appears that in 1867 a half pay pension of Rs 10 per mensem was granted as a special case on Mr. Badell's recommendation on account of his services rendered during the Sircy riots and the Coorg insurrection.

The plea for an increase is grounded on the fact that a full pay pension of Rs 17½
was granted to one Sheik Ismail who had ~~only~~ rendered

The case is a hard one
I think done remarkable service. I believe that he was mainly instrumental in saving Cameron & Haller lives at Sircy in 1833. At least Haller always thought so. It was his managing Mr. Cadell. The question is can he be reopened & go again to the Secy of St.
I fear not.

29/10

I think perhaps we might venture to reopen the case on the same exceptional grounds stated

rendered only equal service, if not less, and that lately, one Ahmed Ally, who had been imprisoned during the Coorg insurrection, had his half-
raised to Rs 25.

Petitioner appeals to Mr. Robinson as one acquainted with his services. He says that Mr.
Robinson got a reward of Rs 500 for him, in connection with a wreck at the Laccadives and also gave him a present of a double-barrelled gun, worth
Rs 100.

The reason assigned by petitioner
for his being granted only Rs 10 in 1867 is that Mr. Badell was too timid to

to ask for more; and a perusal of the papers leads to the impression that his conjecture
is probably correct.

He now points out that if a full pay pension (Rs 20) is granted to him as to the sick pension he will only enjoy it for a short period as he is now over 67 years of age.

Proceedings of the Madras Government, Pension Department, 1st December 1873.

Read petition from Sheik Mohidin, dated 25th September 1873, No. 2392.

ORDER THEREON, 1st December 1873, No. 603.

Sheik Mohidin, a pensioned Jemadar in South Canara, prays for an increase of pension from half to full pay.

2. It appears that in 1867 a half-pay pension of Rupees 10 per mensem was granted to him as a special case, on Mr. Cadell's recommendation, on account of his services rendered during the Sircy riots and the Coorg insurrection.

3. The plea for an increase is grounded on the fact that a full-pay pension of Rupees 17-8-0 was granted to one Sheik Ismail, who had rendered only equal service, if not less, and that, lately, one Ahmed Ally, who had been imprisoned during the Coorg insurrection, had his half-pay pension of Rupees 17-8-0 raised to Rupees 25.

4. A perusal of the papers connected with the case show very clearly that no reason whatever exists for treating petitioner with less liberality than the others mentioned by him, and as it seems probable that the amount of the pension granted at the time was limited to Rupees 10 only because no larger sum was asked for, the Government of India will be addressed with the view of obtaining sanction to Sheik Mohidin's pension being raised to Rupees 20.
