Pensions.

Read the following papers :—

From E. RULE, Esq., Officiating Accountant-General, to the Hon. W. HUDLESTON, Chief Secretary to Government, dated Fort St. George, 4th April 1876, No. 11.

Audit Department.

I have the honor to submit for the consideration of Government the case of a Clerk of my establishment who was lately removed from service owing to old age and infirmity. He is a Compensation Pensioner discharged on reduction of establishment in 1866. On his re-employment in 1869 he was allowed to retain his pension as his pay with pension did not exceed the pay of the appointment on the abolition of which he was pensioned. His second service in qualifying grades amounts to six years, for which he claims a gratuity irrespective of the pension he is drawing for his former service. As I am uncertain whether this claim is admissible, Section 92 of the Civil Pension Code not being explicit on the point that a Compensation Pensioner can be allowed a gratuity for any subsequent service, I request that a reference may be made to the Government of India on the subject.

2. Rule 6 at the end of Chapter XX it is thought does not apply to the case of this individual inasmuch as he had retired before the promulgation of that ruling on the 2nd December 1875.

3. I have also to request orders as to whether Rule 6 above alluded to is to be held applicable to all servants that may retire subsequent to its promulgation though they re-entered Government service previously, or to such only as may thereafter be re-employed in qualifying grades.

No. 247.

It is observed that nothing can be done in the case of this man until a formal application for gratuity is before Government; on the receipt of such the questions raised by the Officiating Accountant-General can be disposed of.

Report of the Accountant-General.

Certified that service in superior grades has been duly proved for six years, four months, and six days; and that a superannuation gratuity not exceeding Rupees 150, equal to six months' pay, will be admissible under Section 57 of the Civil Pension

Code (the calculations have been duly verified) should the Government of India declare that this case falls under Section 92 of the Code. This application is submitted with reference to G.O., No. 247, of the 20th instant, and the attention of Government is respectfully solicited to this office letter, No. 11, of the 4th idem.
