SIR,

In G. O. No. 1182 dated 26th August 1858

Mr. Laford Deputy Commissioner of Police, Inspector Stuart and Duffadar A. Ramodoo were dismissed for gross neglect of duty, but in the same order the re-employment of Mr. Laford was sanctioned on a less responsible position when an opportunity offered. In October 1858 he was accordingly re-employed as Superintendent of the Marine Police and was pensioned a few months afterwards the whole of his service being allowed to count towards pension.

2. Inspector George Stuart appealed to Government who were pleased to order his re-employment as Constable (Sergeant) on a vacancy occurring in G. O. No. 1462 dated 16th October 1858. In the same Order the Government also permitted the re-employment of Duffadar Ramodoo as a Peon (Constable). He having been since employed in the Madras Town Police and gradually.

gradually promoted to the 1st Grade Head Constable Inspected to the Chief Office on the 8th December 1875 to accord sanction for counting his previous service towards his pension but the Assistant Inspector General of Police replied in his Memo dated 22nd January 1876 at 326 that the Inspector General has no power to do so in the case of Constables who were once dismissed and re-entertained and stated that previous service can be counted only in cases of voluntary resignation and re-entertainment within one year.

3. Ramcoodee was originally entertained in the Madras Town Police as a Peon on the 1st February 1850, promoted to Naigue on the 1st February 1857, promoted to Duffadar on the 6th March 1858 and has continuous service for 8 years 6 months and 25 days till 25 August 1858, and as the case of Ramcoodee is similar to that of Mr. Lafond who had the benefit of his previous service and was pensioned, I have the honor to request that you will

I have the honor to forward a letter from the Commissioner of Police Madras requesting that the previous service of Head Constable Ramadoo who was dismissed and re-entertained by order of Government in 1858 may be allowed to count towards pension.

The G. O. in the case are quoted by Colonel Swanston. It appears that Mr. Lafond and Inspector Stuart who were dismissed on the same occasion were re-entertained by order of Government and allowed to count previous service towards pension.
