GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.
PENSION DEPARTMENT.

1st September 1877, No. 469.

Gratuity.

Read the following papers:—

From the Acting First Judge of the Madras Court of Small Causes, dated 30th July 1877, No. 177.

„ Officiating Assistant Accountant-General, dated 16th August 1877, No. 573.

ORDER THEREON, 1st September 1877, No. 469.

It appears that Mr. James Todd, late Court and Deposit Keeper and Crier on the establishment of the Madras Court of Small Causes, served for a period of nine years, ten months, and eighteen days (after excluding the leave for eleven days), but that his service from 21st August 1867 to 27th July 1869 for a period of one year, eleven months, and seven days has been rejected by the Accountant-General on the ground that the duties of the Court-keeper, according to the description given in the memorandum attached, were “to open the Court when the Judges began their work, to keep order during their sitting, and to close the Court after the disposal of the day’s work,” and consequently that service therein cannot be reckoned as superior under Section 43 (b) of the Civil Pension Code (3rd edition). The Government approve the exclusion. For the residue of his service of seven years, eleven months, and eleven days he is entitled to a gratuity of Rupees (420) four hundred and twenty only, equal to seven months’ pay, under Sections 56, 59a, and 60 of the above Code. The Government accordingly authorize the grant of this sum to him.

The undersigned has the honor to state that Mr. Todd's duties as Court-keeper and Crier were to open the Court when the Judges began their work, keep order during their sitting, and close the Court after the disposal of the day's work. As Deposit-keeper he had to take charge of the goods seized and brought into Court under writs of fi. fa, grant receipts to the Bailiffs for the goods, and prepare an inventory of them. In the event of satisfaction being entered up on a writ, he had to return the goods to the owner; otherwise, he had to deliver them to the Court's Broker for sale.
