Draper of the Madras Revenue Survey, and of a memorandum stating the Medical Officer's views as to the cause of Mr. Draper's ill-health, I am directed to inquire whether, when Mr. Draper was examined by the Civil Surgeon of Vellore in 1876, he had already been serving in the unhealthy districts to the climate of which his death is attributed, and if so, for how long before that time. I am to request that the exact particulars of Mr. Draper's service in those districts may be furnished to the Government of India.
