Leave, &c.

Read the following extract from Despatch from Secretary of State, No. 218, dated 30th June 1880:—

PARA. 3. I have, at the same time, to request your attention to the observations in paragraphs 7 to 9 of the Despatch of the 30th September 1863, No. 174, in which observations the Duke of Argyll, in the Despatch dated the 24th September 1872, No. 401, expressed his concurrence.

PARA. 4. The recommendations for the grant of pensions, in excess of the amount admissible under rule, have of late been frequent, and it appears to have been occasionally overlooked that service of an approved character does not give an officer a claim to a special pension, but, as pointed out in the Despatch of 1863 above referred to, is the condition on which the grant of a pension of the full amount authorized by the regulations should depend.
