I have the honor to report that an accident occurred at the Presidency College Madras which resulted in the death of a cooly on the 3rd instant.

2 The lightning Conductor was being fastened to the Central tower and the man in question was holding on to the corner standard of the overmounting railing (originally a 2" square standard) the standard broke away from the rails and the man was precipitated on to the roof below.

3 I have since inspected this iron work and find it completely corroded from the action of the saline atmosphere. I have ordered its removal, and will shortly submit an Estimate for a different kind of finish as it would be injurious after this experience to replace the ironwork.
