The duties of the Head Assorter of the Late Madras Mint are as follows:

The Treasurer of the Mint, after taking the weighment of the bags of different kinds of fresh Silver Coins, received from the stamping Dept. makes them over to the Head Assorter who enters the particulars in a book and distributes the coin to the several Assorters for assortment and superintends their working. The coin while under assortment, are tested also by the Head Assorter as to the correctness and he finally makes them over to the Treasurer with a memo of the right, heavy and light pieces.
The heavy and light weight pieces are rejected while those of the correct weight are accumulated and sent over a week every Wednesday, to the General Treasury, where the Secretary of the Mint Committee takes Pxx Coins and forward them to the assay master for examination every Friday and who makes a report of the result to the Mint Master and Sub Treasurer, and any improper piece is found, the Head Assorter is held responsible.
The coins if found correct are put in circulation.
