5. These badges may be regarded as equivalent of the honorary emblems familiar to us in Europe, where, as is so well known, whether it be a Crown, or a Collar; a Star, a Cross, or a Chain; a Medal, a Device, or a Seal; a Spur of honor, or Sword of honor; a Mantle, a Ribbon or Scarf, or any of the standards designative of Military and Naval Rank; such badges are, in their various extents, the same, and Sovereigns are enabled by their means, to recompense merit of every denomination, without making the gifts burdensome to their Subjects, neither the Treasure of the State nor the Civil Pension List being in any way affected by such royal benefactions.

6. When permission was granted, the emblem sanctioned was presented; but, in addition to these, presents of other Articles were favorite modes of showing honor to Servants and all these marks of favour were prized by the Sircar Servants. It is true that there are to be met with in the world, men with the moral sentiments so exalted as to feel a sufficient reward for all their labours in a consciousness of their own honest desire to do their duty. These, however, are not the multitude, and we notice that in all ages Rulers have resorted to other means to stimulate to earn money or honor or love, these being the three great objects of desire in life. During our rule in the East, however, we have mainly been holding out to the people of those countries only one of these three, yet we know that, whatever might be their admiration, respect, or esteem for us, we are, by our physical habits, our morals and intellects, too far removed from the Natives of India to obtain their love; we have strewn honors among them with such sparing hand, that I have only met with one person in our Civil employ holding any, and he only the lowest of the Hindoo Titles, and even our money payments have been less in amounts to Native Servants than to those of our own Countrymen, although we all know that many Natives, and particularly of late years, fret at seeing Europeans enjoying emoluments for Offices which reasonably or unreasonably Natives believe themselves capable of filling with equal ability; we have used only the mere money incitement as if forgetful that if men are to be ruled and governed and urged to high endeavours, these objects can best be attained by holding out for their aim or by offering to their view, objects for their attainment, and inducements to exertion, as varied as their own desires, and there are few of us but must have observed that as education has spread amongst the Native community we have not been able to satisfy the cravings and longings of those amongst the educated of these people, whose minds are filled with ambitious views.

7. Indeed, throughout the whole period of our Rule in our Eastern empire, our governing has been particularly marked by our abstaining from efforts to rouse the higher and better feelings of the Servants, by the holding out to them the prospect of attaining such honors as ambitions and noble minds may ever legitimately feel desirous for and strive to obtain.

8. We know the full value of orders of honorary distinction, for we have seen them so long before our eyes in Europe and see so many of our countrymen decorated with them here, that the estimation in which they are held is quite familiar to us. We have also, by the formal act of the Government of India, in establishing the Order of British India and Order of Merit, seen that Government recognised the fact that the Natives of these countries are susceptible of being influenced by the desire of distinction, and the appended list will prove that this desire is as great if not greater than that which influences ourselves.

Fort Saint George, Political Consultation, 20th July 1858.

9. I think that we have been defective in our arrangements to supply the varied wants of our Servants.

10. The Order of British India and Order of Merit have not only never supplied the deficiency but they have not even taken the position which they might have done and have therefore, so far as results seem to show, not brought that power to our rule for which they were susceptible. Why this should have occurred it is not perhaps difficult to indicate.

11. They were instituted only for a Class of Military Servants of the Empire and even amongst them the Order of Merit has been bestowed with most sparing hand, there being at present only 2 Native Soldiers in the Madras Army of all Grades who are Members of it.

12. But the great defect in the rules of the Orders, has been their exclusive character.

13. By the Statutes the Military only and even of this class of our Servants, only the Native Soldiery, are eligible to be elected Members of the two Orders. And, though this is the case, it must be admitted that while the Native Soldiery are not the only, they are not the Servants of the State who best earn claims to distinction and so to restrict admission into the Orders has had a treble disadvantage. It creates a separation amongst portions of our Servants who should not be separated but should all be stimulated by one common zeal and aim; it lowers the value of the order in the eyes of the Natives themselves, as they all must see that the bravest of the European Soldiers never wear to adorn it, and it creates amongst the Europeans in all branches of the Public Service, as also amongst all the Natives in our Civil employ, the impression either that they are not deserving of the Orders of British India, and of Merit, or, that the Orders are not worthy of them. Yet, it may not be questioned that there is not in India any European servant of the State, however exalted may be his rank, however great his ability, however comprehensive his knowledge or how great so ever his deeds, but would accept with honest pride and feelings of just emotion the offer to enrol him as a Member of the Order of Merit of British India, provided the State bestowed it in recognition of his merits.

14. In such matters as this, it is not what is bestowed, but the motives for and the associates in the bestowal, by which the value of the gift is estimated and proper selecting is alone required. I feel assured it will be allowed, that, as a body of men, there is no Government which has ever had fewer sluggards, and no Rulers have ever had so many earnest men as amongst the Englishmen serving the Indian Government, and I know that the proudest amongst them would feel honored if he were recognised by the State as having been of use to India, and were granted either of the two Orders of British India in token of the State's recognition of his merits. For honoring in this manner, due selection, as was before said, is all in all. There is no order, however illustrious, but may receive additional lustre by the enrolment amongst its Members of an honorable name, and there is no order but may be kept low or brought into disrepute by the humbleness of its aims or its too lavish or unworthy bestowal.

15. Under these views alone, it seems to me that to restrict the Orders of British India and that of Merit to the Military Servants of the State, was a mistake: but to restrict them to the Native Soldiery, the least worthy part of the Military, was a greater error, and one which could only have the effect of keeping it as the lowest of the orders granted for services by sovereign rulers.

16. The institution of Orders of Knighthood, as a means of recompense for heroic achievements, is traceable to a high antiquity, but the object of the Orders of Europe is not confined to reward Military valour displayed in the field, but to promote loyalty, literary pursuits and other virtues, and we accordingly see them conferred on those who deserve well of the State and of its Ruler; on men as well as women; bestowed alike for valour in the field; for civil services to the nation in the closet, or at the bar; or in the senate; as also for diplomatic services at home or abroad.

17. In my position, seeing a dynasty passing away, seeing six men with different Titles serving under me, and knowing from the Sircar Records how liberally the Carnatic Nabobs have bestowed on their own Relations, on their Servants and even on our Subjects, Mahomedan and Hindoo Titles, it has seemed advisable to bring the subject specially to the notice of Government as I believe it would add greatly to our power of governing the people of these countries were we to use other than the mercenary means which we have hitherto solely been employing. I can believe that there are many occasions, where Government would find it useful to bestow Titles amongst its Servants, and as one of these I might instance that of a servant in a position where his services are really useful, where it is impossible to reward him with increase of salary or remove him to another Office, to whom the grant of a Title would be accepted by himself as sufficient and would be regarded by others as an honorable recognition by the State of their servant's labours. There are men amongst the Hindoos and Mahomedans, as there are amongst ourselves, who disregard Titles and I have known instances of such, but there are others whom I have known, whose great desire to possess Titles has marked the high estimation they put upon them, and thus shown how much they might have been influenced to exertion by ourselves, had we, too, held out to them the prospect of attaining the honors to which their longings extended. As one of these cases I may mention that of a subject and servant, as his case is within the knowledge of Government, late Nabob Mahomed Ghous, and he made persevering efforts to obtain the recognition of our Government to the same by striving to make Government the medium of transmitting to him the Seal granted for the Titles.

18. There was another man well known in this place, Streenavassa Pillay, a Hindoo, who was generally regarded as superior to such matters: but whose great desire in later life was to obtain a Title from the Nabob of the Carnatic, and he did at length obtain one for himself, viz. that of Rajah Streenawassa Pillay Indra Bahadoor and one for his adopted Son Sreeman Rannanooja Moonea Pillay, the lad now at the High School, viz., of Rajah Sreeman Ramanooja Moonea Pillay Karan Wunt Bahadoor.

19. When I asked the Pillay what had induced him to seek for Titles or accept them, his answer to me was illustrative of the various motives for action among men; for he replied "I was desirous of having this mark of favour from my Sovereign to elevate me in the favour of my Countrymen;" yet who shall say but that having felt he had exhausted all the favours of our Government, he only resorted to a Native Court to get that which he so much had longed for, which we might easily have granted to a man of his position, but yet did not think of giving or

20. The European custom of hereditary Titles is here wholly unknown, all Titles, &c., are personal and any creation of ours should equally be so, and this practice wholly prevents the possibility of Titles descending to an impoverished man, as it would lapse with the life of the first holder. It is not the custom of the Eastern Courts to grant money payments along with Titles; on some occasions such grants are made, but it is not general nor usual to do so, and need not be adopted by us, and the numbers, names and Salaries of Titled Sircar Servants still surviving, see Appendix B *

* See the word "alive" in column of remarks.

21. What the new honors should consist of, may be matter of discussion: it will be observed that the Mahomedan Sovereign grants Mahomedan Titles to Mahomedans, and Hindoo Titles to Hindoos, to men as well as to women, and it would therefore seem quite in keeping for us to grant to our Native Subjects and Servants such Titles and Honors as we think suitable.

22. The source of honor amongst our nation, is our gracious Sovereign. I am of opinion that if honors be given, they ought to be so in the name of Her Majesty on the recommendation of the Governments of the Presidencies by the Governor General of India, but in all cases in this land of change without any delay.

23. My own impression is that the Orders of British India and of Merit might be extended to all classes of Subjects in India, Europeans as well as Natives Servants of the State, as well as

Fort, Saint George, Political Consultation, 20th July 1858.

• private Gentlemen, and I subjoin copy of the orders instituting the two Orders of British India and of Merit to show their applicability.

24. The object of my present recommendation being to increase the power of our Rule, it is a legitimate question to ask if the Native States who have showered down with most open hands on their subjects, Titles and Honors of every degree, have derived any advantages from their liberality in matters which cost them nothing, of money value at least.

25. For a reply to that question we may look to the results of our own Rule and recognised that though we are the power that has subsisted longer than any executive Indian Kingdom which is either now extant or which we have ever succeeded to, we have conquered and held our conquests by our intellectual power, our resolution, and material resources, but we know that the Natives of the country whether Mahomedans or Hindoos look to their Native Sovereigns, whether Mahomedan or Hindoo, rather than to us, and in taking lessons how to rule in future it may be advantageous to take into consideration the subject of granting Titles to our own countrymen and to the people of this country. Though greatly followed by the extinct Native Rulers, who retain the affection of the people, the plan has never yet been tried by us, and it seems to me one well meriting our serious consideration.

26. Were I to be asked to state the exact estimate of the value which I put on the duty of exercising the exclusive right to grant Titles, as an engine of power to us and token of our supremacy, I would answer than when, 24 years ago, we assumed to ourselves the exclusive right to exercise the regal prerogative of coining money, the equally regal right exclusively to grant Titles should also then have been assumed and acted on, for the duties of coining money and granting Titles, in all ages and amongst all people, have ever been equally regarded as pertaining to Sovereignty alone to perform, and if we longer delay to assume the right we have left unexercised, we will, in my opinion, be abandoning a prerogative which all Rulers exercise with great advantage to their Rule, and be throwing back upon Native States all those minds which look to Titles as objects of their ambition, and deprive ourselves of the position which we may with ease assume amongst people whose ostentation and love of display are proverbial.

No. 4. ORDER THEREON, No. 445; dated 14th July 1858.

The Governor in Council resolves to forward the above letter from the Government Agent at Chepauk to the Supreme Government, and to express to them his opinion, that the subject to which it relates is one well deserving of serious consideration.

Chief Secretary.

No. 5. To the Secretary to the Government of India, in the Foreign Department, dated Fort Saint George, the 14th July 1858, No. 446.

SIR,

I am directed by the Governor in Council to submit, for the consideration of the Government of India, the accompanying copy of a letter from the Government Agent at Chepauk.

2. In this letter Dr. Balfour brings to notice the Titles and Insignia which have been bestowed upon his Relatives and Dependents by the late Nawaub of the Carnatic and he enlarges on the desire for such distinctions felt by the Natives of India generally, and the use that may be made of that feeling in stimulating and rewarding loyalty and good service.

3. The impression at which he has arrived is, that the Orders of British India and of Merit might be extended to all Classes of Subjects in India, Europeans as well as Natives, Servants of the State, as well as private Gentlemen, and that they should not, as at present, be confined to the Native Army.

4. The Governor in Council instructs me to state that he is disposed to concur generally in Dr. Balfour's views, and that deeming the subject one of much importance, he has been induced to submit that Officer's letter to the Government of India. The crisis through which our Indian Empire has lately passed has elicited numerous instances of fidelity and good conduct among all orders of the people and it may deserve consideration whether the opportunity should not be taken for the public recognition of such services either in the mode suggested by Dr. Balfour, or in some similar manner.

(Signed) T. PYCROFT,
Chief Secretary.

Memor.

I beg to circulate with this letter the papers referred to in para 17 in view of the order of the Govt of India on the subject
 - merit of the order of British Empire & of Merit - I add also a demi official letter on the subject from Mr. Salmond myself.

So far as I can understand Mr. S's communication he wishes to have the order not restricted to the British Soldier but extended to all persons

Pt. 6. July 1882. L. 3

awards to Europeans as well as Native.
Civil as well as military —

It will be seen that these orders are essentially military orders - to be conferred on the Native Troops - The order of Merit is "a good personal award for personal bravery" - It is analogous to our Victoria Cross

How far it may be proper to propose an extension of these Orders and whether the present be a proper time to moot the question. R. J. F. L.

I am very much obliged to Mr. White for his letter of 21st inst.

It appears from the letter that the British Order is not adequate - as most immediately known a distinction which has not been maintained - & does not exist in fact - large service - the highest merit - the highest the common walk has been - the highest equally honorable & equally attainable by all men under the same service
I think the present is a very good time to moot the question

Dr. Kallman suggested Dr. C. that since records might be given by this Genl. Wren - who had shown my correspondence, real in domestic good works & towards Genl. - among the best 12 months. I think this is also worthy of consideration.

I had with three papers with my paper
 I arrived on Tuesday night - & I knew their in special collection -

Since 24/1. The ~~English~~ Gash of India
 & the Gash of Bombay.
 very largely confer titles of honor on their retainer servants & subjects. In Bombay every Moonseef & many other officers receive honorific titles. See ~~the~~ Gash Gazette, but whether they are personal or merely attached to the office I don't know. The difficulty that occurs here in regarding such honors arises from imperfect acquaintance with the persons who are distinguished. For instance the cases of

The Gangaia Serols - the Hokers recommended for a palanquin with the highest testimonials & got proved to have been guilty of malversation & dismissed.

Also the Jemadar recommended for a grant of land at the close of his service & afterwards dismissed
for smuggling salt.

for smuggling salt.
The nature of their alleged services or afirely have obtained for them titles of honor & how lamentable to have been for them.

The power if exercised shd only be used with the greatest caution & not on mere individual ^{acc}count of local affairs. Wm

that feeling in Stanburton, and Renewing loyalty and good Service.

3. The impression at which he has arrived is, that the orders of British India and of Mrit' mig. & extended to all Classes of Subjects in India,
Pitrahans as well as Natives - & accounts of the white & all as friends of the Government - and that they should not as a body be rendered confined to the Indian Army.

4. The Right Honourable the Governor in Council instantly ordered to state that he is highly indebted generally in Dr. Baidouri's views, and that deeming the subject one of much importance, he has been induced to submit that official letter to the Government, for which the Crisis through which our Indian Empire has lately passed has elicited numerous instances of fidelity and good conduct.

Among all orders of the British it may be said that the only one which the Government should not be taken in the Indian Government, such as the British Government, or suggested by the British Government, or the British Government.

To the Right Honourable,
14 July, 1858.
