My Dear Hitchens,

The Dewan has sent word that you want him to turn out, and sent two people to him to do so.

Will you kindly wait for a few days and not disturb him until I see about matters.

Yours Sincerely

Signed C. Balfour

My Dear Balfour,

The room occupied by the Dewan's records is in the Khalsa Mahal, a building that was appropriated as an office for the Revenue Board & Director of Revenue Settlement just one year ago.

The four days, the Dewan's remaining here, the Government only nearly eleven can displace him, and it is was published. The not competent in any Board is urged to subordinate authority to the sooner the attempt. Speedier will be the result. I have thought over how to give effect to the wishes of Government. On the subject of the Dewan's stay, it is a delicate matter to interfere with the Dewan. But I think that, if Government would write to me, mentioning

Enc. etc.

say that the Revenue was to be located in the Chepauk Palace, and that of it could be conducted by the Dewan to conduct his work in his own house. I could have acted on to put up in my room here, but could not think of placing him in such position as working in company with others or requiring to keep his documents in the office. He does all his work, now, in his own house. The Dewan can lodge there at the room in the Thak
