GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following papers :—

From H. M. DURAND, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department (Internal), to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Fort St. George, dated Fort William, 15th December 1884, No. 4432-I.

I am directed to refer to the correspondence ending with your letter, No. 688, of the 7th October 1884, regarding a proposed alteration in the nature of the Chepák Agency appointment at Madras.

2. It appears that the two offices of Government Agent at Chepák and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, which constitute the appointment in question, were amalgamated in 1829, upon economical considerations, with a consolidated pay of Rs. 525 per mensem. The importance of the duties attaching to the appointment renders it desirable that it should be held by a field officer. But no officer of that rank will accept the appointment as at present constituted; because, unless he held also a permanent military appointment in the town of Madras, he would forfeit his Staff Corps allowance. The present incumbent, Colonel Baynes, has throughout held the military appointment of Examiner of Officers of the Army in Hindustani. He has, therefore, retained his Staff Corps allowance in addition to his other emoluments. He now, however, wishes to resign the appointment of Government Agent at Chepák, while retaining his Examinership, but no qualified field officer is willing to accept it under the existing conditions. His Excellency the Governor in Council accordingly proposes that the pay of the Agency shall cease to be consolidated, in order to obviate the difficulty referred to, and, in your letter of the 10th August last, you observe that this change will create no additional expense.

3. In reply, I am to point out that this view appears to be based upon a misapprehension. It would apparently be necessary, if the proposal submitted in your communications under acknowledgment were entertained, to increase by one the cadre of staff appointments for which Staff Corps officers must be maintained, and thus the creation of a new appointment would be involved, for which the sanction of Her Majesty's Secretary of State would be required.

4. Under these circumstances, and having regard to the already expensive character of the appointment as at present constituted, the Governor-General in Council regrets his inability to recommend the proposed alteration for the acceptance of Her Majesty's Government.

No. 31

Referred to the Military Department for remarks.

FORT ST. GEORGE,

(Signed) FORSTER WEBSTER,
Chief Secretary.

No. 705.

Forwarded for favor of report upon the financial aspect of the case.

2. In the Madras Army there are a number of field officers for whom employment cannot be found. It is urged, therefore, that if an unemployed field officer were allowed to hold the appointment on, say, Rs. 250 staff pay, there would be a saving.

(By Order.)

FORT ST. GEORGE, (Signed) A. KENNEY-HERBERT, Lt.-Col., 9th February 1885. Offg. Secy. to Govt., Mily. Dept.

To the Controller of Military Accounts.

From Lieutenant-Colonel C. D. BAYNES, in charge of the Government Agency, Chepák, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Chepák, 19th February 1885, No. 82.

I have the honor to solicit the consideration, by the Right Honorable the Governor in Council, of the following remarks and suggestions in connection with the administration of Carnatic stipends:—

1. Sir Thomas Munro, in his Minute, written in 1821, on a proposal of Lord W. Bentinck's to increase the number of Carnatic stipendiaries, made use of these words: "While we continue to hold out the smallest hope of relief, numbers of the servants and followers of the Navab Vālājāh and his descendants will persevere in expecting pensions and in living in distress and beggary rather than endeavour by making employment to gain their livelihood; the sooner, therefore, we put an end to such idle hopes, the better."

2. This advice was not followed, and the evil consequences which he predicted have actually arisen. Under the combined effect of indeterminate expectations of protracted dependence upon the bounty of Government and of the grant of stipends so attenuated by repeated subdivision as to be utterly inadequate for the support of their recipients, that section of the Muhammadan population known as "Carnatic Stipendiaries" have become, as a body, so demoralised and devoid of self-respect, and so physically and intellectually incapable of earning their livelihood, that any attempt to improve their condition by stimulating them to exert themselves would be futile; all that can be done is to save their children from a similar fate, and I therefore trust I shall not be deemed presumptuous in suggesting some alterations in the mode of administering these stipends, which appear to me calculated to effect that desirable object.

3. Carnatic stipends are classified as Stipendiaries of 1801 and 1855, as Jagír Stipendiaries, and as Yōmiahdārs.

4. The stipends of 1801 originated with assumption by the East-India Company of the entire administration of the civil and military government of the Carnatic. By the 9th Article of a Treaty concluded in that year between the Company and 'Azīm-ud-daulah, the first titular Naváb, the Company bound themselves to provide suitable maintenance for the families of the late Navábs Muhammad 'Alī (commonly known as "Vālājāh") and his son 'Umdat-ul-umarā, the last independent Naváb, and also for their principal officers.

5. In pursuance of this agreement "joint pensions," amounting to an annual disbursement of Rs. 6,91,473, were allotted to certain leading members of these families for the support of themselves and those immediately dependent upon them. This system was, however, soon abolished on account of the dishonest practices of the principal stipendiaries, and the "joint pensions" were apportioned and registered in the separate names of the partakers or co-sharers in them. To these some new stipends were added, the last of which was issued in 1840. A list of these original stipendiaries, together with a statement showing the substipends at present in existence, with other details, is given in Appendix "A".

6. These stipends were regarded as life annuities, lapsing absolutely on the decease of their respective holders, and their continuation, in whole or in part, or their cessation rested entirely upon the discretion and pleasure of the Government, subject to these two main principles:—

(a) Their final extinction by diminution on each continuation;
(b) The limitation of such continuation to the immediate family of a deceased stipendiary, and the exclusion from participation in them of collaterals and dependants.

7. These principles were, however, not observed, and the continuation of lapsing stipends appears to have been made without regard to any defined system, so that between 1801 and 1855 grants and continuations were made, which, though irregular, have been followed as precedents on the ground that the same treatment should be shown to all persons alike; to this relaxation of rules, or rather to the absence of a determinate system of continuation, is due the existence of the present representatives of the original stipendiaries, and also the necessity for further continuation of existing stipends as shown in Appendix "A".

8. Jāgīrdār stipendiaries originated at a later period and under different circumstances. The term Jāgīr signifies proprietary right in land granted either in perpetuity or for life as a reward for services. The right of resumption rested in the donor; and on the cession of the revenues of the Carnatic, this right devolved on the Company as successors of the Naváb. Some of the Jāgīrs were restored to the holders for life, while, in lieu of those not so restored, life pensions were granted. On the death of those persons to whom the Jāgīrs had been restored, they were resumed, but pensions were awarded to their families. With the exception of the Jāgīr of Sancarapūram, the control of these stipends rests with the Revenue Board. On the list of this office there are thirty-one persons who draw their stipends, aggregating monthly Rs. 2,453-1-3. Out of the sum of Rs. 8,000 originally assigned to the family of the Sancarapūram Jāgīrdār, there are also some others paid through this office at the request of the Accountant-General; of these, some are the descendants of Yōmiahdārs, or persons who were drawing some allowance or pay from a Jāgīrdār to whom, on the resumption of the Jāgīrs in 1802, such payments were continued.

9. The stipends of 1855 originated with the death, in that year, of the last titular Naváb Muhammad Ghaus, and were intended to provide for his immediate family, officers, servants and dependants. These stipends were of two kinds; those granted to the immediate family were declared continuable for two lapses under the following restriction:—On death of the original grantee, if a male, a moiety was continuable to those who had been dependent upon the stipend, and again on the death of the second holder a moiety of his stipend was continuable in the same way; but on the death of the third holder, the stipend lapsed absolutely. In the case of female stipendiaries, the continuation was only made for one lapse. Appendix "B" gives a list of those persons. All other stipends granted to officers, servants, and dependants of the late Naváb, were distinctly life annuities, and have been so treated.

10. It will be observed that, though the pensions of 1801 were life annuities, they have practically been dealt with as if they had been hereditary pensions, and that from the stipends allotted originally to the immediate members of the Vālājāh family, continuations have been made even to the fifth holder. By this frequent occurrence of continuation a prescriptive right, as it were, has been created, the sudden cessation of which would bear hardly upon those stipendiaries who are justified, by established precedents, in expecting some further continuation of existing stipends.

11. With the exception of such stipends and of those of 1855 continuable under terms of grant as shown in Appendix "B," I propose that Government shall declare their resolution to discontinue all other pensions on the death of present holders to be irrevocably fixed. Those stipends of 1801, which I consider, for the reasons above stated, to be continuable, are distinguished in Appendix "A" by the letter "C"* in red ink, and the reasons for such continuations are also given.

12. That no pension of less value than Rs. 15 per mensem in the case of a male stipendiary, and of Rs. 10 in the case of a female, shall be continued in future; that is to say, if the sum continuable from any of the pensions specified in appendix "A" or "B" be less than 15 or 10 rupees, or if the share of any sum continuable be less than those sums, it shall de facto be commuted.

13. The continuation of trifling sums has been the chief factor in bringing about the present deplorable condition of the stipendiaries. Its harmful tendency was recognised at an early date in the history of these stipends, and the practice of it discouraged. By E.M.C., No. 378, dated 11th October 1845, it was ruled that pensions not exceeding Rs. 10 should not be subdivided into more than four shares, and that no pension should be issued for less than two rupees. Again, in E.M.C., No. 276, dated 22nd June 1847, and No. 146, dated 4th April 1848, paragraph 60, the grant of petty pensions is disapproved, and 6 rupees is fixed as the minimum. And the Hon'ble Court of Directors, in their letter, No. 3, dated 10th December 1852, recommended the commutation of petty pensions as desirable.

14. It remains, therefore, only to determine the minimum pension which should be continued.

15. Dr. Balfour, writing in 1854 (No. 82 of 29th June), says: "I would wish to draw attention to the many small pensions in the list, and to mention that I regard the grant of such pensions as a mistake. I do not here allude to the pittances of one or two rupees, but to such sums even as six, seven, and eight rupees. To a single woman of the Muhammadan people who can board in some friend's house, or who is married to a person with some other means of support, six, seven, or eight a-month may be an assistance; but a man of the Muhammadan people here having any pretensions to respectability cannot live separately on less than 15 or 18 rupees a-month; and I think it would be better for Government, and for these people themselves, that a person of a respectable family should either get a good sum or none at all. Anything given to a man less than Rs. 15 or 18 per mensem, or Rs. 8 or 10 to a woman, is merely enticing them to remain in the place in a pauperised state, keeping up the numbers here of this body of impoverished people."

16. If such was the case in 1854, much more inadequate would those sums be at the present day; but I think Dr. Balfour's estimate was fixed too high, and I therefore would adopt it as applicable to the present enhanced rate of living. Though I have fixed upon 15 and 10 rupees as the minimum continuable portion of a stipend, I would not determine the maximum pension which can be commuted; this I would leave to the discretion of Government, according to the circumstances of the family of the deceased stipendiary. There is no limit actually defined. The Hon'ble Court of Directors, in their despatch, dated 30th April 1856, No. 3, paragraph 41, embodied in G.O., No. 723, dated 12th December 1859, approve the commutation of pensions, whatever be their amount, if the object for which it be made be a proper one. If a pension of 15 or 10 rupees falls to be continued to an aged person without family, I would not commute it; but if it should happen that a pension of Rs. 50 fell to the lot of a young man or woman with a family, I would recommend its commutation, as they would then be enabled either to personally engage in profitable employment or to prepare and start their children in doing so, who would thus be gradually absorbed, in the most desirable way, into the general community, instead of leading a life of degrading dependency during the lifetime of their parents, and of being left, on their death, penniless and unfit to support themselves.

17. That the grant of compassionate allowances be restricted for the future to the widows of existing stipendiaries who have registered the names of their wives before the 1st April next in accordance with G.O., No. 21 Mis., dated 10th January 1885, "Political," and that the administration of these allowances should be made under the rules which I have proposed for the continuation or commutation of stipends. The Supreme Government, in paragraph 9 of their letter, No. 4780, dated 17th September 1856, expressed their disapproval of the grant of compassionate allowances to widows. The practice originated, as pointed out in my letter, dated 10th May 1883, No. 203, rather in the desire to show some mark of respect to the widows of stipendiaries holding respectable positions than in that of affording relief to the widows of pauper stipendiaries. One great evil of the system is the inducement it gives to men to make no provision for their widows. On this subject I beg to invite reference to my letters, dated 14th July 1880, No. 300, and 14th May 1883, No. 233, which convey obvious reasons for the discontinuance of this bounty.

18. That the designation of the appointment of Government Agent, Chepák, and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends should be modified by the exclusion of the words "Government Agent," because I respectfully submit that the retention of the present designation is as politically harmful as it is meaningless. The question of abolishing the office of Government Agent was raised in 1869. Colonel Wilson, in his memorandum, No. 418, dated 15th November 1869, argued in favor of its retention, but the reasons he advances no longer exist.

19. The original duty of the Government Agent was to serve as the channel of communication between the Naváb of the Carnatic and the Government, and the Government were probably induced to adopt this mode not only on account of the necessity of employing an officer competent to converse with the Naváb in his own language, but as a mark of distinction in recognition of his high position. With the death of the Naváb, the reason for the retention of the appointment also ceased to exist; from that date the duty of the Government Agent was altered, and the task devolved upon him of determining claims to pension and gratuity put forward by the relatives, officials, and dependants of the late Naváb.

20. This task has been completed, and, if the course of action suggested by me in paragraphs 11 and 12 be approved, nothing now remains but to make the continuations now determined upon and to pay existing pensions, which will probably die out within the next fifteen years.

21. The retention of the designation "Government Agent, Chepák," is therefore meaningless, as he has not any political duties to perform; and, I respectfully submit, it is also harmful, because it is calculated to keep alive the memory of a past condition, which, when contrasted with the present, can only engender a feeling of dissatisfaction and discontent with existing circumstances, and therefore it is expedient to divest the office of political associations.

22. It will be observed, from an inspection of Appendices "A" and "B," that the necessity no longer exists for maintaining an expensive department to investigate future claims to pensions, inasmuch as they have all been adjusted. I would, therefore, further propose that the establishment of this office be reduced, and that the work, which would be purely routine, could henceforth be carried on satisfactorily by "native agency."

23. A comparative statement of the present strength of the office of the Government Agent at Chepák and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, and of that proposed for the new office of Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, is shown in Appendix "C." It will be observed that a monthly saving will be thus effected of Rs. 511-8-0.

24. There remains, however, another class of stipends which indirectly arose out of the death of Naváb Muhammad Ghaus; they are perpetual, and are enjoyed by the immediate family of the First Prince of Arcot. The names of the original pensioners are given in appendix to Proceedings of the Madras Government, dated 28th October 1868, No. 233.

25. The mode of continuing these stipends in perpetuity requires the immediate consideration of Government, because it is evident that if these stipends be subjected to a system of subdivision similar to that pertaining to the stipends of 1801, it will eventually be impossible for Government to pay each share of the different stipends separately for want of a coin small enough to represent their respective values.

26. Already has the stipend of Zahīr-ud-daulah been broken up into twenty-eight shares, some of which, as will be seen from Appendix "D," are already too small for subdivision, and on a further lapse, if the sons and daughters have families, the shares will become too minute for continuation. Again, on the death of the widows, their shares will have to be divided amongst their respective children, and so on. The holders of these stipends have the power of disposing of them amongst the members of their family; on the next lapse any one of them may become so subdivided as to render the shares inadequate for the support of their partakers.

27. For instance, take the case of No. 9 in Appendix "D," Muhammad Karīmullāh Khān Bahādur, and supposing that he dies intestate leaving two wives (as a matter of fact, he has four), three sons and two daughters, the sum of the 50 rupees would be divided, according to Muhammadan law, into the following shares:—

	RS.	A.	P.
Each son would get	11	12	$2\frac{14}{17}$
Do. daughter would get	5	14	$1\frac{7}{17}$
Do. widow do.	1	7	$6\frac{6}{17}$

It is evident that, when Government undertook to continue these pensions in perpetuity, they did not contemplate their subdivision into infinitesimal portions. There appear to me to be only two ways of dealing with this difficulty:—

(1) That Government must rule that the future continuations of the sums enjoyed by the present holders will be made intact in the name of the nearest representative of the last holder of the stipend, leaving to such persons, as heads of families, the apportionment of such sums. This plan, as a revival of the system of "joint pensions," is objectionable for the reason given in paragraph 5; but I am unable to suggest any other way of continuing these stipends in perpetuity.

(2) That on the demise of the present holders, the partakers or co-sharers in the present stipends should be allowed to commute them for a lump sum calculated on three lives. This plan would be the most beneficial to the parties concerned, and would be acceptable to them; but I am doubtful whether the validity of such transaction might not be questioned in future times by the children of these persons, who may be minors at the time such commutations are made, or who may be born subsequently to their being made.

PPENDICES.

CHEPAUK,
3rd July 1879.

(Signed) C. D. BAYNES, Major,
In charge of the Government Agency, Chepauk.

From Colonel CHARLES CARTER, Controller of Military Accounts, to the Officiating Secretary to Government, Military Department, dated Fort St. George, 14th February 1885, A.

In returning the marginal papers, I have the honor to state that, as there is always a number of unemployed field officers of the Staff Corps, there would be no difficulty in filling up the appointment, as proposed, without augmenting the "Cadre of Staff Appointments," for which that corps is maintained.

Letter from the Government of India, Foreign Department, No. 4432-I., of 15th December 1884 on Military Department docket No. 705 of 9th February 1885 in re the proposed alteration in the nature of appointment of the Chepák Agency at Madras.

2. The operation of the fifty-two-year rule, which has been recently applied to all regimental appointments, will, moreover, tend for some years to come to increase the number of unemployed field officers.

3. The employment of a military officer of field rank as Chepák Agent, so long as there are field officers available, would seem desirable. The arrangement might be considered a temporary one, as the number of Carnatic stipendiaries is diminishing through casualties; and it is, therefore, not improbable that the status of the appointment of Chepák Agent will, in the course of a few years, require reconsideration.

4. The pay of the appointment is a civil charge.

No. 1071.

Forwarded for favor of remark by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

(By Order.)

FORT ST. GEORGE, 27th February 1885. (Signed) A. KENNEY-HERBERT, Lt.-Col., Offg. Secy. to Govt., Mily. Dept.

To the Adjutant-General.

From Brigadier-General GODFREY CLERK, Adjutant-General, to the Officiating Secretary to Government, Military Department, dated Ootacamund, 26th March 1885, No. 653 (O—Appointments).

In returning the documents as per margin, having reference to the appointment of the Chepák Agency, referred under your memorandum, No. 1071, dated the 27th ultimo, I am desired to say that, if a staff salary of Rs. 250 a-month be allowed, the Commander-in-Chief will place at the disposal of Government the services of a field officer, for whom no suitable regimental employment can be found, for appointment as Government Agent at Chepák.

Letter No. 4432-I., dated 15th December 1884, from the Government of India.
Memorandum, No. 705, dated 9th February 1885, from Government to the Controller of Military Accounts.
Letter, No. A, dated 14th February 1885, from Controller of Military Accounts to Government.
Government memorandum, No. 1071, dated 27th February 1885.

No. 1769.

Transferred, and the referred papers returned to the Political Department.

2. The pay of the appointment of Chepák Agent being only Rs. 525 consolidated, no military officer above the rank of subaltern can be expected to accept it; and as the duties of the Agency demand considerable experience and knowledge of the native character, it may be assumed that they cannot well be entrusted to a subaltern.

3. In these circumstances, attention is invited to the large number of unemployed field officers now with the Madras Army, and to the remarks contained in the letter from the Controller of Military Accounts, which accompanies these papers.

4. The appointment to the Agency of a field officer, for whom no suitable employment can be found, would accordingly seem desirable; but, in the Notification of the Government of India in the Financial Department, No. 846, dated 11th February 1876, it was ruled that whenever, on public grounds, a commissioned military officer holding a civil appointment on consolidated pay, which is less than his military pay, is allowed to draw the difference between them, he shall draw it from the department from which he receives his consolidated pay.

5. With reference to this decision, and in order to meet the difficulty which the exclusive employment of a field officer as Chepák Agent would present, it is suggested that His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief be requested to permit a field officer doing general duty at the Presidency to carry out the duties of the Agency without prejudice to his military duties as an officer of the garrison.

Proceedings of Government, (Financial,) No. 379, dated 27th February 1878.

6. Were this arrangement permitted, the Political Department might reduce the pay of the Agency to Rs. 250 per mensem.

(By Order.)

FORT ST. GEORGE, 31st March 1885. (Signed) A. KENNEY-HERBERT, Lt.-Col., Offg. Secretary to Govt., Mily. Dept.

To the Political Department, with four enclosures.

From H. F. CLOGSTOUN, Esq., Accountant-General to the Government of Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Fort St. George, 4th May 1885, No. 1127.

Gazetted Audit Department.

With reference to your endorsement No. 846 (reference on No. 1361 of 1884 and Nos. 196 and 362 of 1885), dated the 24th April 1885, forwarding, for my report, correspondence regarding the appointment of a field officer doing duty at the Presidency to officiate as Paymaster Carnatic Stipends on Rs. 250, I have the honor to state that, if it is the intention of Government to alter the nature of the appointment of Government Agent and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, and to reduce its pay from Rs. 525 to Rs. 250, the previous sanction of the Government of India will be necessary under Rule 2(3) and Rule 5(4), Chapter 33, Civil Account Code, 3rd Edition.

From the Accountant-General, Madras, dated 8th May 1885.

ORDER—dated 22nd May 1885, No. 357, Political.

The Right Honorable the Governor in Council shares generally the views expressed in the foregoing report by the Government Agent, Chepák, and, in separate orders, has given effect to the recommendations in the 11th, 12th, and 17th paragraphs.

2. With regard to the 24th and following paragraphs, it is to be remarked that the Government has really no concern with the distribution of the perpetual stipends mentioned. The plan suggested in clause 1 of the 27th paragraph would be in accord with what is usual, and might be commended by Lieutenant-Colonel Baynes to the consideration of His Highness the Prince of Arcot.

3. Turning to the 21st, 22nd, and 23rd paragraphs, the Government are not disposed to carry out so extensive a reduction in the Agency Establishment as that suggested by Lieutenant-Colonel Baynes; but they resolve to submit to the Government of India a proposal to abolish the present office of Government Agent and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, and to create a new appointment under the designation of Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends. The salary to be attached to this office will be Rs. 250 per mensem, and, for the present, a field officer doing duty at the Presidency might be appointed to the post, aided by an Assistant Paymaster on Rs. 175 and three clerks on salaries of Rs. 35, 15, and 10 per mensem.

4. Pending receipt of sanction to these proposals, the Government are unable to reduce the pay of the Agent's appointment, of which Lieutenant-Colonel Baynes is, at his own request, about to be relieved. They, however, are prepared to pass to the acting incumbent of the office such pay not exceeding Rs. 525 as may seem sufficient, and resolve to request His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief to place at the disposal of the Political Department the services of a field officer doing duty at the Presidency to officiate as Government Agent, Chepák, and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, with an allowance of Rs. 250 a-month.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

LETTER—from

THE CHIEF SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF FORT ST. GEORGE, POLITICAL DEPARTMENT,

To

THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA,
FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

SIR,

With reference to the correspondence ending with your letter of the 15th December last, No. 4432-I., I am directed to forward copies of the Proceedings * of the Madras Government of this date on the subject of the Chepák Agency and the administration of the Carnatic stipends, and to request that the Secretary of State may be moved to sanction the changes in the Agency establishment, which are shown in the accompanying proposition statement, and by which an immediate saving of Rs. 336-8-0 per mensem will be effected.

* Nos. 357 and 359, dated 22nd May 1885.

2. The Governor in Council, I am to say, concurs with Lieutenant-Colonel Baynes in thinking that the retention of the designation of Government Agent is unnecessary. It is accordingly proposed to abolish the present style and appointment and to substitute for the present Agent and Paymaster of Carnatic stipends an officer, to be designated by the latter title, on a salary of Rs. 250 a-month. This appointment could be held by a field officer doing duty at the Presidency town. For the present, the Muhammadan Assistant in the office would be retained to aid the Paymaster. In the clerical and menial establishments certain reductions are proposed, which will result in a saving of Rs. 61-8-0 per mensem.

3. I am to invite attention to the Proceedings of this Government, No. 359, of to-day's date in regard to the future administration of Carnatic stipends; the alterations of the existing system therein proposed will, it is believed, ultimately prove of great benefit to the Madras Muslim community by rousing them from their present habits of dependence and idleness.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

E. F. WEBSTER,
Chief Secretary.

OOTACAMUND,
22nd May 1885.
