GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following papers:—

From H. M. DURAND, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department (Internal), to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Fort St. George, dated Fort William, 15th December 1884, No. 4432-I.

I am directed to refer to the correspondence ending with your letter, No. 688, of the 7th October 1884, regarding a proposed alteration in the nature of the Chepák Agency appointment at Madras.

2. It appears that the two offices of Government Agent at Chepák and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, which constitute the appointment in question, were amalgamated in 1829, upon economical considerations, with a consolidated pay of Rs. 525 per mensem. The importance of the duties attaching to the appointment renders it desirable that it should be held by a field officer. But no officer of that rank will accept the appointment as at present constituted; because, unless he held also a permanent military appointment in the town of Madras, he would forfeit his Staff Corps allowance. The present incumbent, Colonel Baynes, has throughout held the military appointment of Examiner of Officers of the Army in Hindustani. He has, therefore, retained his Staff-Corps allowance in addition to his other emoluments. He now, however, wishes to resign the appointment of Government Agent at Chepák, while retaining his Examinership, but no qualified field officer is willing to accept it under the existing conditions. His Excellency the Governor in Council accordingly proposes that the pay of the Agency shall cease to be consolidated, in order to obviate the difficulty referred to, and, in your letter of the 10th August last, you observe that this change will create no additional expense.

3. In reply, I am to point out that this view appears to be based upon a misapprehension. It would apparently be necessary, if the proposal submitted in your communications under acknowledgment were entertained, to increase by one the cadre of staff appointments for which Staff Corps officers must be maintained, and thus the creation of a new appointment would be involved, for which the sanction of Her Majesty's Secretary of State would be required.

4. Under these circumstances, and having regard to the already expensive character of the appointment as at present constituted, the Governor-General in Council regrets his inability to recommend the proposed alteration for the acceptance of Her Majesty's Government.

forwarded for favour of perusal upon the financial aspect of the case.

2. In the Madras Army there are a number of field officers for whom employment cannot be found. It is urged, therefore, that if an unemployed field officer were allowed to hold the appointment on, say, Rs. 450 staff pay, there would be a saving.

(By Order.)

FORT ST. GEORGE, (signed) A. KENNEY-HERBERT, Lt.-Col., 5th February 1885. Offg. Secy. to Govt., Mily. Dept.

To the Contingent Military Accounts.

From Lieutenant-Colonel C. D. BAYNES, in charge of the Government Agency, Chepák, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Chepák, 16th February 1885, No. 82.

I have the honor to solicit the consideration, by the Right Honorable the Governor in Council, of the following remarks and suggestions in connection with the administration of Carnatic stipends :—

1. Sir Thomas Munro, in his Minute, written in 1821, on a proposal of Lord W. Bentinck's to increase the number of Carnatic stipendiaries, made use of these words :—"While we continue to hold out the smallest hope of relief, numbers of the servants and followers of Azím-ud-daulah, and his descendants will persevere in expecting pensions and in living in distress and beggary rather than endeavour by making employment to gain their livelihood; the sooner, therefore, we put an end to such idle hopes, the better."

2. This advice was not followed, and the evil consequences which he predicted have actually arisen. Under the combined effect of indeterminate expectations of continued dependence upon the bounty of Government and of the grant of stipends proved by repeated subdivision as to be utterly inadequate for the support of their recipients, that section of the Muhammadan population known as "Carnatic Stipendiaries" have become, as a body, so demoralised and devoid of self-respect, and so wholly idle and indeed incapable of earning their livelihood, that any attempt to improve their condition by stimulating them to exert themselves would be futile; all that can be done is to save their children from a similar fate, and I therefore trust I shall not be deemed presumptuous in suggesting some alterations in the mode of administering these stipends, which appear to me calculated to effect that desirable object.

3. Carnatic stipends are classified as Stipendiaries of 1801 and 1855, as Jagír Stipendiaries, and as Yomiahdárs.

The stipends of 1801 originated with assumption by the East-India Company of the entire administration of the civil and military government of the Carnatic. By the 13th Article of a Treaty concluded in that year between the Company and 'Azím-ud-daulah, the first titular Navábship, the Company bound themselves to provide suitable maintenance for the families of the late Navábs Muhammad 'Ali (commonly known as "Vālājah") and his son 'Umdat-ul-umará, the last independent Naváb, and also for their principal officers.

5. In pursuance of this agreement "joint pensions," amounting to an annual disbursement of Rs. 6,91,473, were allotted to certain leading members of these families for the support of themselves and those immediately dependent upon them. This system was, however, soon abolished on account of the dishonest practices of the principal stipendiaries, and the "joint pensions" were apportioned and registered in the separate names of the partakers or co-sharers in them. To these were now stipends were added, the last of which was issued in 1840. A list of these original stipendiaries, together with a statement showing the substipends at present in existence, with other details, is given in Appendix "A".

(b) The limitation of such continuation to the immediate family of a deceased stipendiary, and the exclusion from participation in the grant of collaterals and dependants.

7. These principles were, however, not observed, and the continuation of lapsing stipends appears to have been made without regard to any defined system, so that between 1801 and 1855 grants and continuations were made, which, though irregular, have been followed as precedents on the ground that the same treatment should be shown to all persons alike; to this relaxation of rule, rather than to the absence of a determinate system of continuation, is due the existence of the present representatives of the original stipendiaries, and also the necessity for further continuation of existing stipends as shown in Appendix "A".

8. Jágírdár stipendiaries originated at a later period and under different circumstances. The term Jágír signifies proprietary right in land granted either in perpetuity or for life as a reward for services. The right of resumption rested in the donor; and on the cession of the revenues of the Carnatic, this right devolved on the Company as successors of the Navábs. Some of the Jágírs were restored to the holders for life, while, in lieu of those not so restored, life pensions were granted. On the death of those persons to whom the Jágírs had been restored, they were resumed, but pensions were awarded to their families. With the exception of the Jágír of Sancarapúram, the control of these stipends rests with the Revenue Board. On the list of this office there are thirty-one persons who draw their stipends, aggregating monthly Rs. 2,453-1-3. Out of the sum of Rs. 8,000 originally assigned to the family of the Sancarapúram Jágírdár, there are also some others paid through this office at the request of the Accountant-General; of these, some are the descendants of Yómiahdárs, or persons who were drawing some allowance or pay from a Jágírdár to whom, on the resumption of the Jágírs in 1802, such payments were continued.

9. The stipends of 1855 originated with the death in that year, of the last titular Naváb Muhammad Ghaus, and were intended to provide for his immediate family, officers, servants and dependants. These stipends were of two kinds; those granted to the immediate family were declared continuable for two lapses under the following restriction :—On death of the original grantee, if a male, a moiety was continuable to those who had been dependent upon the stipend, and again on the death of the second holder a moiety of his stipend was continuable in the same way; but on the death of the third holder, the stipend lapsed absolutely. In the case of female stipendiaries, the continuation was only made for one lapse. Appendix "B" gives a list of those persons. All other stipends granted to officers, servants, and dependants of the late Naváb, were distinctly life annuities and have been so treated.

10. It will be observed that, though the pensions of 1801 were life annuities, they have practically been dealt with as if they had been hereditary pensions, and that from the stipends allotted originally to the immediate members of the Vālājah family, continuations have been made even to the fifth holder. By this frequent occurrence of continuation a prescriptive right, as it were, has been created, the sudden cessation of which would bear hardly upon those stipendiaries who are justified, by established precedents, in expecting some further continuation of existing stipends.

11. With the exception of such stipends and of those of 1855 continuable under terms of grant as shown in Appendix "B," I propose that Government shall declare their resolution to discontinue all other pensions on the death of present holders to be irrevocably fixed. Those stipends of 1801, which I consider, for the reasons

...ove stated, to be continuable, are distinguished in Appendix "A" by the letter "C" in red ink, and the reasons for such continuations are also given.

12. That no pension of less value than Rs. 15 per mensem in the case of a male stipendiary and of Rs. 10 in the case of a female, shall be continued in future; that is to say, if the sum continuable from any of the pensions specified in appendix "A" or "B" be less than 15 or 10 rupees, or if the share of any sum continuable be less than those sums, it shall de facto be commuted.

13. The continuation of trifling sums has been the chief factor in bringing about the present deplorable condition of the stipendiaries. Its harmful tendency was recognised at an early date in the history of these stipends, and the practice of it discountenanced. By E.M.C., No. 278, dated 11th October 1845, it was ruled that pensions not exceeding Rs. 60 should not be subdivided into more than four shares, and that no pension should be issued for less than two rupees. Again, in E.M.C., No. 276, dated 22nd June 1847, and No. 140, dated 4th April 1848, paragraph 60, the grant of petty pensions is disapproved, and 6 rupees is fixed as the minimum. And the Honble Court of Directors, in their letter, No. 3, dated 10th December 1852, recommended the commutation of petty pensions as desirable.

15. Dr. Balfour, writing in 1854 (Sel. 82 of 29th June), says: "I would wish to draw attention to the many small pensions in the list, and to mention that I regard the grant of such pensions as a mistake. I do not here allude to the pensions of one or two rupees, but to such sums even as six, seven, and eight rupees. To a single woman of the Muhammadan people who can board in some friend's house, or who is married to a person with some other means of support, six, seven, or eight a-month may be an advantage; but a man of the Muhammadan people here having any pretensions to respectability cannot live separately on less than 15 or 18 rupees a month; and I think it would be better for Government, and for these people themselves, that a person of a respectable family should either get a good sum or none at all. Anything given to a man less than Rs. 15 or 18 per mensem, or Rs. 8 or 9 to a woman, is merely enticing them to remain in the place in a pauperised state, keeping up the numbers here of this body of impoverished people."

16. If such was the case in 1854, much more inadequate would those sums be at the present day that I name. Dr. Balfour's estimate was fixed too high, and I therefore would adopt it as applicable to the present enhanced rate of living. Though I have fixed upon 15 and 10 rupees as the minimum continuable portion of a stipend, I would not determine the maximum pension which can be commuted; this I would leave to the discretion of Government, according to the circumstances of the family of the deceased stipendiary. There is no limit actually defined. The Honble Court of Directors, in their despatch, dated 30th April 1856, No. 3, paragraph 41, embodied in G.O., No. 720, dated 12th December 1859, approve the commutation of pensions, whatever be their amount, if the object for which it be made be attained. If a pension of 15 or 10 rupees falls to be continued to an aged person without family, I would not commute it; but if it should happen that a pension of Rs. 60 falls to the lot of a young man or woman with a family, I would recommend its commutation, as they would then be enabled either to personally engage in profitable employment or to prepare and start their children in doing so, who would thus be gradually absorbed, in the most desirable way, into the general community, instead of leading a life of degrading dependency during the lifetime of their parents, and of being left, on their death, penniless and unfit to support themselves.

17. That the grant of compassionate allowances be restricted for the future to the widows of existing stipendiaries who have registered the names of their wives before the 1st April next in accordance with G.O., No. 21 Mis., dated 10th January 1885, "Political," and that the administration of these allowances should be made under the rules which I have proposed for the continuation or commutation of stipends. The Supreme Government, in paragraph 9 of their letter, No. 4780, dated 17th September 1856, expressed their disapproval of the grant of compassionate allowances to widows. The practice originated, as pointed out in my letter, dated 10th May 1883, No. 203, rather in the desire to show some mark of respect to the widows of stipendiaries holding respectable positions than in that of affording relief to the widows of pauper stipendiaries. One great evil of the system is the inducement it gives to men to make no provision for their widows. On this subject I beg to make reference to my letters, dated 14th July 1880, No. 300, and 14th May 1883, which convey obvious reasons for the discontinuance of this bounty.

...t the designation of the appointment of Government Agent, Chepák, ...r of Carnatic Stipends should be modified by the exclusion of the words ... Agent," because I respectfully submit that the retention of the ...ion is as politically harmful as it is meaningless. The question of ...ice of Government Agent was raised in 1869. Colonel Wilson, in ..., No. 418, dated 15th November 1869, argued in favor of its ... reasons he advances no longer exist.

...iginal duty of the Government Agent was to serve as the channel ... between the Navváb of the Carnatic and the Government, and ... are probably induced to adopt this mode not only on account of ...ploying an officer competent to converse with the Navváb in his ... as a mark of distinction in recognition of his high position. With the death of the Navváb, the reason for the retention of the appointment also ceased to exist; from that date the duty of the Government Agent was altered, and the task devolved upon him of determining claims to pension and gratuity put forward by the relatives, officials, and dependants of the late Navváb.

20. This task has been completed, and if the course of action suggested by me in paragraphs 11 and 12 be approved, nothing now remains but to make the continuations now determined upon and to pay existing pensions, which will probably die out within the next fifteen years.

21. The retention of the designation "Government Agent, Chepák," is therefore meaningless, as he has not any political duties to perform; and, I respectfully submit, it is also harmful, because it is calculated to keep alive the memory of a past condition, which, when contrasted with the present, can only engender a feeling of dissatisfaction and discontent with existing circumstances, and therefore it is expedient to divest the office of political associations.

22. It will be observed, from an inspection of Appendices "A" and "B," that the necessity no longer exists for maintaining an expensive department to investigate future claims to pensions, inasmuch as they have all been adjusted. I would therefore, further propose that the establishment of this office be reduced, and that the work, which would be purely routine, could henceforth be carried on satisfactorily by "native agency."

23. A comparative statement of the present strength of the office of the Government Agent at Chepák and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, and of that proposed for the new office of Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, is shown in Appendix "C." It will be observed that a monthly saving will be thus effected of Rs. 511-8-0.

24. There remains, however, another class of stipends which indirectly arose out of the death of Navváb Muhammad Ghaus; they are perpetual, and are enjoyed by the immediate family of the First Prince of Arcot. The names of the original pensioners are given in Appendix to Proceedings of the Madras Government, dated 28th October 1868, No. 433.

25. The mode of continuing these stipends in perpetuity requires the immediate consideration of Government, because it is evident that if these stipends be subjected to a system of subdivision similar to that pertaining to the stipends of 1801, it will eventually be impossible for Government to pay each share of the different stipends separately for want of a coin small enough to represent their respective values.

26. Already has the stipend of Zahīr-ud-daulah been broken up into twenty-eight shares, some of which, as will be seen from Appendix "D," are already too small for subdivision, and on a further lapse, if the sons and daughters have families, the shares will become too minute for continuation. Again, on the death of the widows, their shares will have to be divided amongst their respective children and so on. The holders of these stipends have the power of disposing of them amongst the members of their family; on the next lapse any one of them may become so subdivided as to render the shares inadequate for the support of their partakers.

27. For instance, take the case of No. 9 in Appendix "D," Muhammad Karīmullah Khān Bahadur, and supposing that he dies intestate leaving two wives (as a matter of fact, he has four), three sons and two daughters, the sum of the 50 rupees would be divided, according to Muhammadan law, into the following shares:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Each son would get	11	12	2$\frac{4}{7}$
Do. daughter would get	5	14	1$\frac{2}{7}$
Do. widow do.	1	7	6$\frac{6}{7}$

It is evident that, when Government undertook to continue these pensions in perpetuity, they did not contemplate their subdivision into infinitesimal portions. There appear to me to be only two ways of dealing with this difficulty:—

(1) That Government must rule that the future continuations of the sums enjoyed by the present holders will be made intact in the name of the nearest representative of the last holder of the stipend, leaving to such persons, as heads of families, the apportionment of such sums. This plan, as a revival of the system of "joint pensions," is objectionable for the reason given in paragraph 5; but I am unable to suggest any other way of continuing these stipends in perpetuity.

(2) That on the demise of the present holders, the partakers or co-sharers in the present stipends should be allowed to commute them for a lump sum calculated on three lives. This plan would be the most beneficial to the parties concerned, and would be acceptable to them; but I am doubtful whether the validity of such transaction might not be questioned in future times by the children of these persons, who may be minors at the time such commutations are made, or who may be born subsequently to their being made.

CHEPAUK,
3rd July 1879.

From Colonel CHARLES CARTER, Controller of Military Accounts, to the Officiating Secretary to Government, Military Department, dated Fort St. George, 14th February 1885, A.

In returning the marginal papers, I have the honor to state that, as there is always a number of unemployed field officers of the Staff Corps, there would be no difficulty in filling up the appointment, as proposed, without augmenting the "Cadre of Staff Appointments," for which that corps is maintained.

Letter from the Government of India, Foreign Department, No. 4432-I., of 15th December 1884 on Military Department docket No. 705 of 9th February 1885 in re the proposed alteration in the nature of appointment of the Chepák Agency at Madras.

2. The operation of the fifty-two-year rule, which has been recently applied to all regimental appointments, will, moreover, tend for some years to come to increase the number of unemployed field officers.

3. The employment of a military officer of field rank as Chepák Agent, so long as there are field officers available, would seem desirable. The arrangement might be considered a temporary one, as the number of Carnatic stipendiaries is diminishing through casualties; and it is, therefore, not improbable that the status of the appointment of Chepák Agent will, in the course of a few years, require reconsideration.

4. The pay of the appointment is a civil charge.

No. 1071.

Forwarded for favor of remark by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

(By Order.)

FORT ST. GEORGE, 27th February 1885. (Signed) A. KENNEY-HERBERT, Lt.-Col., Offg. Secy. to Govt., Mily. Dept.

To the Adjutant-General.

From Brigadier-General GODFREY CLERK, Adjutant-General, to the Officiating Secretary to Government, Military Department, dated Ootacamund, 26th March 1885, No. 653 (O—Appointments).

In returning the documents as per margin, having reference to the appointment of the Chepák Agency, referred under your memorandum, No. 1071, dated the 27th ultimo, I am desired to say that, if a staff salary of Rs. 250 a month be allowed, the Commander-in-Chief will place at the disposal of Government the services of a field officer, for whom no suitable regimental employment can be found, for appointment as Government Agent at Chepák.

Letter No. 4432-I., dated 15th December 1884, from the Government of India.
Memorandum, No. 705, dated 9th February 1885, from Government to the Controller of Military Accounts.
Letter, No. A, dated 14th February 1885, from Controller of Military Accounts to Government.
Government memorandum, No. 1071, dated 27th February 1885.

No. 1769.

Transferred, and the referred papers returned to the Political Department.

2. The pay of the appointment of Chepák Agent being only Rs. 525 consolidated, no military officer above the rank of subaltern can be expected to accept it; and as the duties of the Agency demand considerable experience and knowledge of the native character, it may be assumed that they cannot well be entrusted to a subaltern.

3. In these circumstances, attention is invited to the large number of unemployed field officers now with the Madras Army, and to the remarks contained in the letter from the Controller of Military Accounts, which accompanies these papers.

4. The appointment to the Agency of a field officer, for whom no suitable employment can be found, would accordingly seem desirable; but, in the Notification of the Government of India in the Financial Department, No. 846, dated 11th February 1876, it was ruled that whenever, on public grounds, a commissioned military officer holding a civil appointment on consolidated pay, which is less than his military pay, is allowed to draw the difference between them, he shall draw it from the department from which he receives his consolidated pay.

5. With reference to this decision, and in order to meet the difficulty which the exclusive employment of a field officer as Chepák Agent would present, it is suggested that His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief be requested to permit a field officer doing general duty at the Presidency to carry out the duties of the Agency without prejudice to his military duties as an officer of the garrison.

Proceedings of Government, (Financial,) No. 379, dated 27th February 1878.

6. Were this arrangement permitted, the Political Department might reduce the pay of the Agency to Rs. 250 per mensem.

(By Order.)

FORT ST. GEORGE, 31st March 1885. (Signed) A. KENNEY-HERBERT, Lt.-Col., Offg. Secretary to Govt., Mily. Dept.

To the Political Department, with four enclosures.

From H. F. CLOGSTOUN, Esq., Accountant-General to the Government of Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Fort St. George, 4th May 1885, No. 1127.

Gazetted Audit Department.

With reference to your endorsement No. 846 (reference on No. 1361 of 1884 and Nos. 196 and 362 of 1885), dated the 24th April 1885, forwarding, for my report, correspondence regarding the appointment of a field officer doing duty at the Presidency to officiate as Paymaster Carnatic Stipends on Rs. 250, I have the honor to state that, if it is the intention of Government to alter the nature of the appointment of Government Agent and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, and to reduce its pay from Rs. 525 to Rs. 250, the previous sanction of the Government of India will be necessary under Rule 2(3) and Rule 5(4), Chapter 33, Civil Account Code, 3rd Edition.

From the Accountant-General, Madras, dated 8th May 1885.

ORDER—dated 22nd May 1885, No. 357, Political.

The Right Honorable the Governor in Council shares generally the views expressed in the foregoing report by the Government Agent, Chepák, and, in separate orders, has given effect to the recommendations in the 11th, 12th, and 17th paragraphs.

2. With regard to the 24th and following paragraphs, it is to be remarked that the Government has really no concern with the distribution of the perpetual stipends mentioned. The plan suggested in clause 1 of the 27th paragraph would be in accord with what is usual, and might be commended by Lieutenant-Colonel Baynes to the consideration of His Highness the Prince of Arcot.

3. Turning to the 21st, 22nd, and 23rd paragraphs, the Government are not disposed to carry out so extensive a reduction in the Agency Establishment as that suggested by Lieutenant-Colonel Baynes; but they resolve to submit to the Government of India a proposal to abolish the present office of Government Agent and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, and to create a new appointment under the designation of Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends. The salary to be attached to this office will be Rs. 250 per mensem, and, for the present, a field officer doing duty at the Presidency might be appointed to the post, aided by an Assistant Paymaster on Rs. 175 and three clerks on salaries of Rs. 35, 15, and 10 per mensem.

4. Pending receipt of sanction to these proposals, the Government are unable to reduce the pay of the Agent's appointment, of which Lieutenant-Colonel Baynes is, at his own request, about to be relieved. They, however, are prepared to pass to the acting incumbent of the office such pay not exceeding Rs. 525 as may seem sufficient, and resolve to request His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief to place at the disposal of the Political Department the services of a field officer doing duty at the Presidency to officiate as Government Agent, Chepák, and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, with an allowance of Rs. 250 a-month.

LETTER—from

THE CHIEF SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF FORT ST. GEORGE, POLITICAL DEPARTMENT,

To

THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA,
FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

SIR,

With reference to the correspondence ending with your letter of the 15th December last, No. 4432-I., I am directed to forward copies of the Proceedings * of the Madras Government of this date on the subject of the Chepák Agency and the administration of the Carnatic stipends, and to request that the Secretary of State may be moved to sanction the changes in the Agency establishment, which are shown in the accompanying proposition statement, and by which an immediate saving of Rs. 336-8-0 per mensem will be effected.

* Nos. 357 and 359, dated 22nd May 1885.

2. The Governor in Council, I am to say, concurs with Lieutenant-Colonel Baynes in thinking that the retention of the designation of Government Agent is unnecessary. It is accordingly proposed to abolish the present style and appointment and to substitute for the present Agent and Paymaster of Carnatic stipends an officer, to be designated by the latter title, on a salary of Rs. 250 a-month. This appointment could be held by a field officer doing duty at the Presidency town. For the present, the Muhammadan Assistant in the office would be retained to aid the Paymaster. In the clerical and menial establishments certain reductions are proposed, which will result in a saving of Rs. 61-8-0 per mensem.

3. I am to invite attention to the Proceedings of this Government, No. 359, of to-day's date in regard to the future administration of Carnatic stipends; the alterations of the existing system therein proposed will, it is believed, ultimately prove of great benefit to the Madras Muslim community by rousing them from their present habits of dependence and idleness.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

E. F. WEBSTER,
Chief Secretary.

GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following paper :—

From Lieutenant-Colonel C. D. BAYNES, in charge of the Government Agency, Chepák, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Chepák, 19th February 1885, No. 82.

I have the honor to solicit the consideration, by the Right Honorable the Governor in Council, of the following remarks and suggestions in connection with the administration of Carnatic stipends :—

1. Sir Thomas Munro, in his Minute, written in 1821, on a proposal of Lord Bentinck's to increase the number of Carnatic stipendiaries, made use of these words: "While we continue to hold out the smallest hope of relief, numbers of the servants and followers of the Navâb Vâlâjâh and his descendants will persevere in expecting pensions and in living in distress and beggary rather than endeavour by making employment to gain the livelihood; the sooner, therefore, we put an end to such idle hopes, the better."

2. This advice was not followed, and the evil consequences which he predicted have actually arisen. Under the combined effect of indeterminate expectations of protracted dependence upon the bounty of Government and of the grant of stipends so attenuated by repeated subdivision as to be utterly inadequate for the support of their recipients, that section of the Muhammadan population known as "Carnatic Stipendiaries" have become, as a body, so demoralised and devoid of self-respect, and so physically and intellectually incapable of earning their livelihood, that any attempt to improve their condition by stimulating them to exert themselves would be futile; all that can be done is to save their children from a similar fate, and I therefore trust I shall not be deemed presumptuous in suggesting some alterations in the mode of administering these stipends, which appear to me calculated to effect that desirable object.

3. Carnatic stipends are classified as Stipendiaries of 1801 and 1855, as Jagír Stipendiaries, and as Yômiahdârs.

4. The stipends of 1801 originated with assumption by the East-India Company of the entire administration of the civil and military government of the Carnatic. By the 9th Article of a Treaty concluded in that year between the Company and 'Azîm-ud-daulah, the first titular Navâb, the Company bound themselves to provide suitable maintenance for the families of the late Navâbs Muhammad 'Alî (commonly known as "Vâlâjâh") and his son 'Umdat-ul-umarâ, the last independent Navâb, and also for their principal officers.

5. In pursuance of this agreement "joint pensions," amounting to an annual disbursement of Rs. 6,91,473, were allotted to certain leading members of these families for the support of themselves and those immediately dependent upon them. This system was, however, soon abolished on account of the dishonest practices of the principal stipendiaries, and the "joint pensions" were apportioned and registered in the separate names of the partakers or co-sharers in them. To these some new stipends were added, the last of which was issued in 1840. A list of these original stipendiaries, together with a statement showing the substipends at present in existence, with other details, is given in Appendix "A".

6. These stipends were regarded as life annuities, lapsing absolutely on the decease of their respective holders, and their continuation, in whole or in part, or their cessation rested entirely upon the discretion and pleasure of the Government, subject to these two main principles:—

(a) Their final extinction by diminution on each continuation;

(b) The limitation of such continuation to the immediate family of a deceased stipendiary, and the exclusion from participation in them of collaterals and dependants.

7. These principles were, however, not observed, and the continuation of lapsing stipends appears to have been made without regard to any defined system, so that between 1801 and 1855 grants and continuations were made, which, though irregular, have been followed as precedents on the ground that the same treatment should be shown to all persons alike; to this relaxation of rules, or rather to the absence of a determinate system of continuation, is due the existence of the present representatives of the original stipendiaries, and also the necessity for further continuation of existing stipends as shown in Appendix "A".

8. Jāgīrdār stipendiaries originated at a later period and under different circumstances. The term Jāgīr signifies proprietary right in land granted either in perpetuity or for life as a reward for services. The right of resumption rested in the donor; and on the cession of the revenues of the Carnatic, this right devolved on the Company as successors of the Navāb. Some of the Jāgīrs were restored to the holders for life, while, in lieu of those not so restored, life pensions were granted. On the death of those persons to whom the Jāgīrs had been restored, they were resumed, but pensions were awarded to their families. With the exception of the Jāgīr of Sancarapūram, the control of these stipends rests with the Revenue Board. On the list of this office there are thirty-one persons who draw their stipends, aggregating monthly Rs. 2,453-1-3. Out of the sum of Rs. 8,000 originally assigned to the family of the Sancarapūram Jāgīrdār, there are also some others paid through this office at the request of the Accountant-General; of these, some are the descendants of Yōmiahdārs, or persons who were drawing some allowance or pay from a Jāgīrdār to whom, on the resumption of the Jāgīrs in 1802, such payments were continued.

9. The stipends of 1855 originated with the death, in that year, of the last titular Navāb Muhammad Ghaus, and were intended to provide for his immediate family, officers, servants and dependants. These stipends were of two kinds; those granted to the immediate family were declared continuable for two lapses under the following restriction:—On death of the original grantee, if a male, a moiety was continuable to those who had been dependent upon the stipend, and again on the death of the second holder a moiety of his stipend was continuable in the same way; but on the death of the third holder, the stipend lapsed absolutely. In the case of female stipendiaries, the continuation was only made for one lapse. Appendix "B" gives a list of those persons. All other stipends granted to officers, servants, and dependants of the late Navāb, were distinctly life annuities, and have been so treated.

10. It will be observed that, though the pensions of 1801 were life annuities, they have practically been dealt with as if they had been hereditary pensions, and that from the stipends allotted originally to the immediate members of the Vālājāh family, continuations have been made even to the fifth holder. By this frequent occurrence of continuation a prescriptive right, as it were, has been created, the sudden cessation of which would bear hardly upon those stipendiaries who are justified, by established precedents, in expecting some further continuation of existing stipends.

11. With the exception of such stipends and of those of 1855 continuable under terms of grant as shown in Appendix "B," I propose that Government shall declare their resolution to discontinue all other pensions on the death of present holders to be irrevocably fixed. Those stipends of 1801, which I consider, for the reasons above stated, to be continuable, are distinguished in Appendix "A" by the letter "C"* in red ink, and the reasons for such continuations are also given.

* This has been done.

12. That no pension of less value than Rs. 15 per mensem in the case of a male stipendiary, and of Rs. 10 in the case of a female, shall be continued in future; that is to say, if the sum continuable from any of the pensions specified in appendix "A" or "B" be less than 15 or 10 rupees, or if the share of any sum continuable be less than those sums, it shall de facto be commuted.

13. The continuation of trifling sums has been the chief factor in bringing about the present deplorable condition of the stipendiaries. Its harmful tendency was recognised at an early date in the history of these stipends, and the practice of it discouraged. By E.M.C., No. 378, dated 11th October 1845, it was ruled that pensions not exceeding Rs. 10 should not be subdivided into more than four shares and that no pension should be issued for less than two rupees. Again, in E.M.C., No. 276, dated 22nd June 1847, and No. 146, dated 4th April 1848, paragraph 60, the grant of petty pensions is disapproved, and 6 rupees is fixed as the minimum. And the Hon'ble Court of Directors, in their letter, No. 3, dated 10th December 1852, recommended the commutation of petty pensions as desirable.

15. Dr. Balfour, writing in 1854 (No. 82 of 29th June), says: "I would wish to draw attention to the many small pensions in the list, and to mention that I regard the grant of such pensions as a mistake. I do not here allude to the pittances of one or two rupees, but to such sums even as six, seven, and eight rupees. To a single woman of the Muhammadan people who can board in some friend's house, or who is married to a person with some other means of support, six, seven, or eight a-month may be an assistance; but a man of the Muhammadan people here having any pretensions to respectability cannot live separately on less than 15 or 18 rupees a-month; and I think it would be better for Government, and for these people themselves, that a person of a respectable family should either get a good sum or none at all. Anything given to a man less than Rs. 15 or 18 per mensem, or Rs. 8 or 10 to a woman, is merely enticing them to remain in the place in a pauperised state, keeping up the numbers here of this body of impoverished people."

16. If such was the case in 1854, much more inadequate would those sums be at the present day; but I think Dr. Balfour's estimate was fixed too high, and I therefore would adopt it as applicable to the present enhanced rate of living. Though I have fixed upon 15 and 10 rupees as the minimum continuable portion of a stipend, I would not determine the maximum pension which can be commuted; this I would leave to the discretion of Government, according to the circumstances of the family of the deceased stipendiary. There is no limit actually defined. The Hon'ble Court of Directors, in their despatch, dated 30th April 1856, No. 3, paragraph 41, embodied in G.O., No. 723, dated 12th December 1859, approve the commutation of pensions, whatever be their amount, if the object for which it be made be a proper one. If a pension of 15 or 10 rupees falls to be continued to an aged person without family, I would not commute it; but if it should happen that a pension of Rs. 50 fell to the lot of a young man or woman with a family, I would recommend its commutation, as they would then be enabled either to personally engage in profitable employment or to prepare and start their children in doing so, who would thus be gradually absorbed, in the most desirable way, into the general community, instead of leading a life of degrading dependency during the lifetime of their parents, and of being left, on their death, penniless and unfit to support themselves.

17. That the grant of compassionate allowances be restricted for the future to the widows of existing stipendiaries who have registered the names of their wives before the 1st April next in accordance with G.O., No. 21 Mis., dated 10th January 1885, "Political," and that the administration of these allowances should be made under the rules which I have proposed for the continuation or commutation of stipends. The Supreme Government, in paragraph 9 of their letter, No. 4780, dated 17th September 1856, expressed their disapproval of the grant of compassionate allowances to widows. The practice originated, as pointed out in my letter, dated 24th May 1883, No. 203, rather in the desire to show some mark of respect to the widows of stipendiaries holding respectable positions than in that of affording relief to the widows of pauper stipendiaries. One great evil of the system is the inducement it gives to men to make no provision for their widows. On this subject I beg to invite reference to my letters, dated 14th July 1880, No. 300, and 14th May 1883, No. 233, which convey obvious reasons for the discontinuance of this bounty.

18. That the designation of the appointment of Government Agent, Chepák and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends should be modified by the exclusion of the words "Government Agent," because I respectfully submit that the retention of the present designation is as politically harmful as it is meaningless. The question of abolishing the office of Government Agent was raised in 1869. Colonel Wilson, in his memorandum, No. 418, dated 15th November 1869, argued in favor of its retention, but the reasons he advances no longer exist.

19. The original duty of the Government Agent was to serve as the channel of communication between the Navváb of the Carnatic and the Government, and the Government were probably induced to adopt this mode not only on account of the necessity of employing an officer competent to converse with the Navváb in his own language, but as a mark of distinction in recognition of his high position. With the death of the Navváb, the reason for the retention of the appointment also ceased to exist; from that date the duty of the Government Agent was altered, and the task devolved upon him of determining claims to pension and gratuity put forward by the relatives, officials, and dependants of the late Navváb.

20. This task has been completed, and, if the course of action suggested by me in paragraphs 11 and 12 be approved, nothing now remains but to make the continuations now determined upon and to pay existing pensions, which will probably die out within the next fifteen years.

21. The retention of the designation "Government Agent, Chepák," is therefore meaningless, as he has not any political duties to perform; and, I respectfully submit, it is also harmful, because it is calculated to keep alive the memory of a past condition, which, when contrasted with the present, can only engender a feeling of dissatisfaction and discontent with existing circumstances, and therefore it is expedient to divest the office of political associations.

22. It will be observed, from an inspection of Appendices "A" and "B," that the necessity no longer exists for maintaining an expensive department to investigate future claims to pensions, inasmuch as they have all been adjusted. I would, therefore, further propose that the establishment of this office be reduced, and that the work, which would be purely routine, could henceforth be carried on satisfactorily by "native agency."

23. A comparative statement of the present strength of the office of the Government Agent at Chepák and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, and of that proposed for the new office of Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends, is shown in Appendix "C." It will be observed that a monthly saving will be thus effected of Rs. 511-8-0.

24. There remains, however, another class of stipends which indirectly arose out of the death of Navváb Muhammad Ghaus; they are perpetual, and are enjoyed by the immediate family of the First Prince of Arcot. The names of the original pensioners are given in appendix to Proceedings of the Madras Government, dated 28th October 1868, No. 253.

25. The mode of continuing these stipends in perpetuity requires the immediate consideration of Government, because it is evident that if these stipends be subjected to a system of subdivision similar to that pertaining to the stipends of 1801, it will eventually be impossible for Government to pay each share of the different stipends separately for want of a coin small enough to represent their respective values.

26. Already has the stipend of Zahír-ud-daulah been broken up into twenty-eight shares, some of which, as will be seen from Appendix "D," are already too small for subdivision, and on a further lapse, if the sons and daughters have families, the shares will become too minute for continuation. Again, on the death of the widows, their shares will have to be divided amongst their respective children, and so on. The holders of these stipends have the power of disposing of them amongst the members of their family; on the next lapse any one of them may become so subdivided as to render the shares inadequate for the support of their partakers.

27. For instance, take the case of No. 9 in Appendix "D," Muhammad Karímullāh-Khān Bahādur, and supposing that he dies intestate leaving two wives (as a matter of fact, he has four), three sons and two daughters, the sum of the 50 rupees would be divided, according to Muhammadan law, into the following shares:—

		RS.	A.	P.
Each son would get	... ...	11	12	$2\frac{14}{17}$
Do. daughter do.	... ...	5	14	$1\frac{7}{17}$
Do. widow do.	... ...	1	7	$6\frac{6}{17}$

It is evident that, when Government undertook to continue these pensions in perpetuity, they did not contemplate their subdivision into infinitesimal portions. There appear to me to be only two ways of dealing with this difficulty:—

(1) That Government must rule that the future continuations of the sums enjoyed by the present holders will be made intact in the name of the nearest representative of the last holder of the stipend, leaving to such persons, as heads of families, the apportionment of such sums. This plan, as a revival of the system of "joint pensions," is objectionable for the reason given in paragraph 5; but I am unable to suggest any other way of continuing these stipends in perpetuity.

(2) That on the demise of the present holders, the partakers or co-sharers in the present stipends should be allowed to commute them for a lump sum calculated on three lives. This plan would be the most beneficial to the parties concerned, and would be acceptable to them; but I am doubtful whether the validity of such transaction might not be questioned in future times by the children of these persons, who may be minors at the time such commutations are made, or who may be born subsequently to their being made.

CHEPAUK,
3rd July 1879.

(Signed) C. D. BAYNES, Major,
In charge of the Government Agency, Chepauk.

No. 4432 I.

From

The Offg: Secretary to the Government of India,

To

The Chief Secretary to the Government of Fort St. George.

Foreign Deptt, Dated Fort William, the 15th December 1884.

Internal. Sir,

I am directed to refer to the correspondence ending with your letter No. 688 of the 7th October 1884, regard=ing a proposed alteration in the nature of the Chepâk Agency appointment at Madras.

2. It appears that the two offices of Government Agent at Chepak and Paymaster

Paymaster of Barrattie Stipends which constitute the appointment in question, were amalgamated in 1829,
upon economical considera= =tions, with a consolidated pay
of Rs 525/ per mensem.
The importance of the duties attaching to the appointment renders it desirable that it should be held by a Field Officer. But no officer of that rank will accept the appointment as at present constituted; because, unless he held also a permanent military appointment in the town of Madras, he would forfeit his Staff Corps allowance.
The present incumbent, Colonel Baynes, has throughout held the military appointment of

Examiner

7

Examiner of Officers of the Army in Hindustani. He has therefore retained his Staff Corps allowance in addition to his other emoluments.
He now however, wishes to resign the appointment of Government Agent at Chepâk;
while retaining his Examiner= =ship, but no qualified field Officer is willing to accept it under the existing conditions. His Excellency the Governor in Council accordingly proposes that the pay of the Agency shall cease to be consolidated, in order to obviate the difficulty referred to, and in your letter of the 10th August last you observe that this change will create no additional expense.

3. In reply I am to point out that this view appears to be based upon a misapprehension. It would apparently be necessary, if the proposal submitted in your communications under acknowledgment were entertained, to increase by one the cadre of Staff appointments for which Staff Corps Officers must be maintained, and thus the creation of a new appointment would be involved for which the sanction of Her Majesty's Secretary of State would be required.

4. Under these circumstances, and having regard to the already expensive character of the appointment as at present constituted, the Governor General in Council regrets his inability to recommend the proposed alteration for the acceptance of Her Majesty's Government.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedt. servant,

H. Anderson

FORWARDED for favor of report upon the financial aspect of the case.

In the Madras Army there are a number of Field officers, for whom employment cannot be found. It is urged therefore that if an unemployed F.O were allowed to hold the appointment (By Order.) must on say Rs 250 staff pay there would be a saving

Government Agents Office

From,

Lieutenant Colonel C. D. Bagnell
In charge of the Government Agency
Chepák

To,

The Honorable C. F. Webster
Chief Secretary to Government
Fort St. George

Sir,

I have the honor to submit for consideration of the Right Honorable the Governor in Council the following remarks and suggestions in connection with the Administration of Carnatic Shepaurds.

1. Sir Thomas Munro in his Minute written in 1824 on a proposal of Lord Dalhousie to increase the number of Carnatic Shepaurds, made use of these words "which we continue to hold out the greatest hope of relief, members of the Sircars and fellows of the Mandl Vidyajals and the Government will possess no effective power over

Sirs

"bring on distress and beggary rather than endeavour by making employment to gain the livelihood, the sooner therefore we put an end to such idle hopes the better."

2. This advice was not followed and the evil consequences which he predicted have actually arisen. Under the combined effect of indeterminate expectations of protracted dependence upon the bounty of Government and of the grant of Stipends so attenuated by repeated sub-divisions as to be utterly inadequate for the support of their recipients, that section of the Muhammadan population known as Carnatic Stipendiaries have become, as a body, so demoralized and devoid of self respect and so physically and intellectually incapable of earning their live-lihood that any attempt to improve their condition by stimulating them to exert themselves would be futile; all that can be done is to save their children from a similar fate, and I therefore trust that it will not be deemed presumptuous in suggesting some alterations in the mode

of administering these Stipends, which appear to me calculated to effect that desirable object.

3 Carnatic Stipends are classified as Stipendiaries of 1801 and 1855, as Jāgīr Stipendiaries and as Yōmiahdārs.

4. The Stipends of 1801, originated with assumption by the East India Company of the entire administration of the Civil and Military Government of the Carnatic. By the 2nd Article of a Treaty concluded in that year between the Company and Azim-ud-dawlah the first titular Nawāb, the Company bound themselves to provide suitable maintenance for the families of the late Nawāb Muhammad Ali (commonly known as Wālājāh) and his four immediate successors the last independent Nawāb and also for their principal officers

5. In pursuance of this agreement first persons succeeding to an annual disbursement

disbursement of Rs. 6,91,473 were allotted to certain leading members of these families for the support of themselves and those immediately dependant upon them. This system was however soon abolished on account of the dishonest practices of the principal stipendiaries, and the "joint pensions" were apportioned and registered in the separate names of the partakers or Bhagdars in them. To these some new stipends were added, the last of which was issued in 1840. A list of these original stipendiaries together with a statement showing the sub-stipends at present in existence with other details is given in Appendix D. 6.

These stipends were regarded as life grants, lapsing absolutely on the decease of their respective holders, and their continuation in whole or in part or their extinction rested entirely upon the discretion discretion and pleasure of the Government. Subject to these two main principles:-

(a) Their final extinction by diminution on each continuation.

(b) The limitation of such continuation to the immediate family of a deceased stipendiary and the exclusion from participation in them of collaterals and dependants.

These principles were however not observed and the continuation of lapsed stipends appears to have been made without regard to any defined system, so that between 1801 and 1855 grants and continuations were made which though irregular have been followed as precedents on the ground that the same treatment should be shown to all persons alike; to this relaxation of rules or rather to the absence of a determinate System of Continuation is due the existence of the present representatives of the original stipendiaries. Also the excess necessity for further continuation of existing stipends as shown in Appendix "A".

8. Jāgīrdār Stipendiaries originated at a later period and under different circumstances. The term Jāgīr signifies proprietory right in land granted either in perpetuity or for life as a reward for services. The right of resumption rested in the donor and on the cession of the Revenues of the Carnatic, this right devolved on the Company as successors of the Nawāb. Some of the Jagirs were restored to the holders for life, while in lieu of those not so restored, life pensions were granted. On the death of those persons to whom the Jagirs had been restored they were resumed but pensions were awarded to their families. With the exception of the Jagir of Sauceraputram the control of these stipends rests with the Revenue Board. On the list of this Office there are 31 persons who draw their stipends aggregating monthly monthly Rupees 2,453-1-3, out of this sum of Rupees 8000 originally assigned to the family of the Saucarapuram Jāgīrdār, there are also some others paid through this office at the request of the Accountant General of these some are the descendants of Gomashtās or persons who were drawing some allowance or pay from a Jāgīrdār to whom on the resumption of the Jāgīrs in 1802 such payments were continued.

9. The Stipends of 1855 originated with the death in that year of the last titular Nawāb Muhammad Ghaus, and were intended to provide for his immediate family, Officers, Servants and dependants. These Stipends were of two kinds those granted to the immediate family were declared continuable for two lapses under the following restriction. On death of the original original grantee, if a male, a moiety was continuable to those who had been dependant upon the stipend, and again on the death of the 2nd holder a moiety of his stipend was continuable in the same way; but on the death of the 3rd holder the stipend lapsed absolutely. In the case of female stipendiaries the continuation was only made for one lapse. Appendix "B" gives a list of these persons. All other stipends to Officers, servants and dependants of the late Nawab, were distinctly life annuities and have been so treated.

10. It will be observed that though the pensions of 1801 were life annuities, they have practically been dealt with as if they had been hereditary pensions and that from the stipends attached originally to the immediate members of the Walajah family, continuations have have been made owing to the 3rd holder. By this frequent occurrence of continuation a prescriptive right, as it were, has been created the sudden expiation of which would bear hardly upon those stipendiaries, who are justified by established precedents in expecting some further continuation of existing stipends.

11. With the exception of such stipends of those of 1855 continuable under terms of grant as shown in Appendix "B", I propose that Government shall declare their resolution to discontinue all other pensions on the death of present holders to be irrevocably fixed. Those stipends of 1801, which I consider for the reasons above stated to be continuable are distinguished in Appendix "A" by the letter "C" in red ink and the reasons for such continuations are also given.

12. That no pension of less than Rs. 15 per mensem in the case of a stipendiary and of Rs. 10 in the case of a female female shall be continued in future, that is to say, if the sum continuable from any of the pensions specified in Appendix "A" or "B" be less than 15 or 10 rupees or if the share of any sum Continuable be less than three rupees it shall "de facto" be commuted

13. The continuation of this petty system has been the chief factor in bringing about the present deplorable condition of the Stipendiaries. Its harmful tendency was recognized at an early date in the history of these stipends and the practice of it discouraged. By C. Dn. C. No. 278 of 11th October 1845, it was ruled that pensions not exceeding Rs. 10 should not be subdivided into more than 4 shares and that no pension should be issued for less than two rupees. Again in C. Dn. C.
No. 295 of 22nd December 1847 and No. 345 of 24th April 1848 para 60, the grant of petty pensions is disapproved and 6 rupees is fixed fixed as the minimum. And the Honorable Court of Directors in their letter No. 3 of 10th December 1852, recommended the commutation of petty pensions as desirable.

14. It remains therefore only to determine the minimum pension which should be continued.

15. Dr. Balfour writing in 1854 (No. 82 of 29th June) says:- "I would "wish to draw attention to the many sm-
"pensions in the list and to mention that "I regard the grant of such pensions as a "mistake. I do not here allude to the pa-
"of one or two rupees, but to such sums as
"as six, seven, and eight rupees. To a sup-
"woman of the Mahomedan people who ca-"board in some friend's house or who is "married to a person with some other "means of support six, seven or eight r
"month may be an assistance, but a man of the Mahomedan people here having any pretensions to respectability cannot live separately on less than 15 or 18 rupees a month, and I think it would be better for Government and for these people themselves that a person of a respectable family should either get a good sum or none at all. Any thing given to a man less than rupees 15 or 18 per mensem, or rupees 8 or 10 to a woman is merely enticing them to remain in the place in a pauperized state, keeping up the numbers here of this body of impoverished people."

If

16. If such was the case in 1854 much more inadequate would those sums be at the present day, but I think Dr. Balfour's estimate was fixed too high, and I therefore would adopt it as applicable to the present enhanced rate of living. Though I have fixed upon 15 and 10 rupees rupees as the minimum Continuable portion of a stipend, I would not determine the minimum pension which can be commuted, this I would leave to the discretion of Government according to the circumstances of the family of the deceased Stipendiary. There is no limit actually defined. The Honorable Court of Directors in their despatch of 30th April 1856 No. 3 para 41. embodied in G.O. No. 923 of 12th December 1859, approve the commutation of pensions, whatever be their amount, if the object for which it be used be a proper one. If a pension of 15 or 10 rupees falls to be continued to an aged person without family, I would not commute it, but if it should happen that a pension of rupees 50 falls to the lot of a young man or woman with a family, I would recommend its commutation as they would then be enabled either to personally engage in profitable employment or to prepare and start their children in some, who would then be gradually

absorbed in the most desirable way into the general community instead of leading a life of degrading dependency during the lifetime of their parents and of being left, on their death, penniless and unfit to support themselves.

17. That the grant of Compassionate allowances be restricted for the future to the widows of existing stipendiaries who have registered the names of their wives before the 1st April next in accordance with G.O. No. 21 bis of 10th January 1885 Pattiseb, and that the administration of these allowances should be made under the rules which I have proposed for the continuation or Commutation of Stipends. The Supreme Government in para 9 of their Letter No. 1930 of 17th September 1856 expressed their disapproval of the grant of Compassionate allowances to widows. The practice originated as pointed out in my Letter of 10th May 1882, No. 303 rather in the desire to show some mark of respect to the widows of stipendiaries holding respectable positions than in that of affording relief to the widows of pauper stipendiaries. One great evil of the system is the inducement it gives to men to make no provision for their widows. On this subject I beg to invite reference to my letters of 14th July 1880, No. 300 and 14th May 1883, No. 233, which convey obvious reasons for the discontinuance of this bounty.

18. That the designation of the appointment of Government Agent Chepauk and Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends should be modified by the exclusion of the words "Government Agent", because I respectfully submit that the retention of the present designation is as politically harmful as it is meaningless. The question of abolishing the Office of Government Agent was raised in 1869, Colonel Wilton in his Circular No. 218 of 15th November 1869 argued in favour of its retention, but the reasons he advanced no longer exist.

19. The original duty of the Government Agent was to serve as the Channel of Communication between the Navāb of the Carnatic and the Government, and the Government were probably induced to adopt this mode not only on account of the necessity of employing an Officer competent to converse with the Navāb in his own language, but as a mark of distinction in recognition of his high position. With the death of the Navāb the reason for the retention of the appointment also ceased to exist; from that date the duty of the Government Agent was altered and the task devolved upon him of determining claims to pension and gratuity put forward by the relatives, officials and dependants of the late Navāb.

20. This task has been completed and of the course of action suggested by me in paras 11 and 12 be approved, nothing now remains but to make the continuations

now determined upon and to pay existing pensions, which will probably die out within the next 15 years.

21. The retention of the designation "Government Agent Chepauk" is therefore meaningless, as he has not any political duties to perform and I respectfully submit it is also harmful, because it is calculated to keep alive the memory of a past condition, which, when contrasted with the present can only engender a feeling of dissatisfaction and discontent with existing circumstances, and therefore is expedient to direct the office of political association.

22. It will be observed from an inspection of Appendices "A" and "B" that the necessity no longer exists for maintaining an expensive department to investigate future claims to pensions in as much as they have all been adjusted. I would therefore further propose that the establishment of this office be reduced and that the work which would be found routine could henceforth be carried on satisfactorily by "Native Agency".

23. A Comparative Statement of the present strength of the Office of the Government Agent at Chepauk and Vayamaster of Carnatic Stipends, and of that proposed for the new office of Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends is shown in Appendix C". It will be observed that a monthly saving will be thus effected of ~~Rs.~~ 51-8-0.

24. There remains however another class of stipends which indirectly arose out of the death of Nawab Muhammad Ghaus: they are perpetual and are enjoyed by the two immediate family of the 1st Prince of Arcot. The names of the original pensioners are given in Appendix to Proceedings of the Madras Government of 28th October 1868 No 233.

25. The mode of continuing these stipends in perpetuity requires the immediate consideration of Government, because it is evident, that of these stipends be subjected to a system of sub-division similar to that pertaining to the stipends of 1801, it will eventually be impossible for Government to pay each share of the different stipends separately for want of a coin small enough to represent their respective values.

26. Already has the stipend of Zahir-ud-daulah been broken up into 28 shares some of which as will be seen from Appendix "D" are already too small for sub-division, and on a further lapse, of the sons and daughters have families these shares will become too minute for continuance. Again on the death of the widows these shares will have to be divided amongst their respective children and so on. These holders of these stipends have the power of disposing of them amongst the members of their family, so the most lapse any one of them may become so sub-divided as to render the shares inadequate for the support their Support of partakers.

27. For instance take the case of No. 9 in Appendix "D" Muhammad Karim-ullah Khan Bahadur, and supposing that he dies intestate leaving 2 wives (as a matter of fact, he has four) 3 sons and 2 daughters, the sum of the 50 rupees would be divided according to Muhammadan Law into the following shares:-

Each son would get Rs. 11-12-3 4/17.
" daughter " " 5-14-1 7/17.
" widow " " 1-7-6 6/17

It is evident that when Government undertook to continue these pensions in perpetuity they did not contemplate their subdivision into infinitesimal portions. There appear to me to be only two ways of dealing with this difficulty:-

1st That Government must rule that the future continuation of the grant enjoyed by

by the present holders will be made in fact in the name of the nearest representative of the last holder of the stipend leaving to such persons as heads of families the apportionment of such sums. This plan, as a revival of the system of joint possession is objectionable for the reasons given in para 5, but I am unable to suggest any other way of continuing these stipends in perpetuity.

2nd That on the demise of the present holders, the partakers or Co-sharers in the present stipends should be allowed to commute them for a lump sum calculated on three lives. This plan would be the most beneficial to the parties concerned and would be acceptable to them; but I am doubtful whether the validity of such transaction might not be questioned in future times by the children of these persons, who may be minors at the time such commutations are made or who may be born subsequently to their having being made.

Sir

I have the honor to refer to the Govt. of India Foreign Department letter No. 4432 of 15th December 1882 on Military Dept. docket No. 705 of 9th May 1883 re the proposed alteration in the nature of appointment of the Chepauk Agency at Madras.

In returning the marginal papers, I have the honor to state that, as there is always a number of unemployed field officers of the Staff Corps, there would be no difficulty in filling up the appointment as proposed without augmenting the "cadre of Staff Appointments" for which that Corps is maintained.

2 The operation of the 52 year rule which has been recently applied to all regimental appointments will moreover moreover for some years to come to increase the number of unemployed Field Officers.

3. The employment of a Military Officer of field rank as Chepák Agent, so long as there are Field Officers available would seem desirable. The arrangement might be considered a temporary one as the number of Carnatic Stipendiaries is diminishing through casualties, and it is therefore not improbable that the status of the appointment of Chepák Agent with in the course of a few years require reconsideration.

4. The pay of the appointment is a civil charge.

2. The pay of the appointment of Chepak Agent being only Rs 525 consolidated, no military officer above the rank of subaltern can be expected to accept it, and as the duties of the Agency demand considerable experience and and knowledge of the native character, it may be assumed that they cannot well be entrusted to a subaltern.

3. In these circumstances, attention is invited to the large number of unemployed Field Officers now with the Madras Army, and to the remarks contained in the letter from the Controller of Military Accounts which accompanies these papers.

4. The appointment to the Agency of a Field Officer for whom no suitable employment can be found would accordingly seem desirable, but in the Notification of the Government of India in the Financial Department. No. 846, dated 11th February 1876, it was ruled that whenever, on public grounds, a Commissioned Military Officer holding a civil appointment on consolidated pay, which is less than his military pay, is allowed to draw the difference between them, he shall draw it from the Department from which he receives his consolidated pay.

5. With reference to this decision, and in order to meet the difficulty which the exclusive employment of a Field Officer as Chepauk Agent would present, it is suggested that His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief be requested to permit a Field Officer doing general duty at the Presidency to carry out the duties of the Agency without prejudice to his military duties as an officer of the garrison.

The title of Government Agent Chepauk Road better be abolished.

The minor & monthly Pitchay pension allowed to by Col Byrne in para 12 of the above should be compulsorily commuted on the death of the present holder.

The plan proposed which heading I of para 27 appears the least inconvenient to be passed in such cases as are referred to in that para.

I should like to know what saving would be effected if we accepted the proposal now made by the Military Department. I should prefer not to make a very large change such as that suggested by Col Byrne, but some saving should be made now & the person now to be appointed might be the last European to hold the office of Pycroft Ramalinga Mudaliar Pensioners [illegible]

I see no objection to Col. Baynes's proposals in paragraphs 11, 12, & 17 of his letter.

Nor to the abolition of the designation Government Agent (paras 18 & 21)

We really have no concern with the distribution of the perpetual stipends alluded to in paras 24 & 27. The family concerned has to make its own arrangements. The plan suggested in clause (1) para 27 will be in accordance with what is usual.

As to paras 22 & 23 I would prefer not to make do sweeping a reduction all at once. If we can get a military man as a staff

These words he a mistake for reasons given in paras. 18 – 22.

Administration of Carnatic stipends (B)

In this letter Col. Baynes puts forward proposals for the gradual discontinuance of some of the Carnatic pensions and advocates the commutation of all such pensions of less value than 15 & 10 Rupees a month paid respectively to male & female stipendiaries leaving at an open question whether sanction ought not to be accorded for the commutation of higher rates of pension also. He further suggests that his duties as Government Agent & Paymaster Chepauk & Payments "Carnatic stipends" might with advantage be made over to an officer whose pay plus the cost of the required establishment need not exceed 353-8 a month. Assuming the total of 51-1-8. a month Carnatic pensions would be assigned to the following persons

First to members of the families of Nawab Wallajah & his son and to their principal officers under the terms of the treaty of 1801. These were extended to life pensions but it was left to the will and discretion of the Govt to continue them (subject to certain deductions) and this has frequently been done & in some cases even to the fifth holder.

Next an understanding pensions given instead of land resumed. On the cession of the revenues of the Carnatic all lands granted by the Nawabs as a reward for services present to the Company: but in many instances a life interest in such lands was continued to the holders and at their death the lands were resumed & pensions given to members of the family of the last holder. In these cases the lands (jaghirs) were resumed at once and pensions given.

Agree with H.E. that Govt Collegiate - If India will only allow us to employ one of our idle Staff officers on Rs 250 there will be a saving in the pay of the Head of the Dept: of Rs 275. Economies which if any may be pointed to. if any make in Establishment

There appear to be under the Control (excepting Sankaranpuram) of the Bd of Revenue 241.

Sept. Since the pensions of 1855 intended for the maintenance of the family officers, servants, and dependents of Nawab Muhammad Ghaus - subject to certain deductions the pensions of the members of the Nawabs family have continued for two lives which time provided to his dependants were strictly life pensions -

Col. Baynes now suggests that with the exceptions as are entirely dependents of the Nawab's family, and of such of the pensions of 1855 as may have been so long continued as to give rise to reasonable expectations that further continuations will be allowed, the Govt should now declare their resolution to discontinue all pensions on the death of the present holders - See Sir Thomas Munro (para 5) and several orders of Govt (para 13) in in support of his proposal that the hope of obtaining a Tamil servant is sufficient to induce them always to live in distress & beggary rather than get themselves to earn an honest living — Lastly there are the remains piece & members of the family of the Nabob of Arcot: these are to be continued in perpetuity and in para 24 & 25 Col: Baynes asks for to consider the best mode of continuing these stipends — Submitted that the plan suggested in para 27 (1). is the proper one.

The results of Col: Baynes' proposals are exhibited in the appendices to his letter.

Order. 22 May 1885 No 357.

The Right Honorable the Governor in Council observes the views expressed in the foregoing extract by the Government of Bombay, and in default order has given effect to the recommendations in the 11th, 12th & 17th paragraphs.

2. With regard to the 24th and following paragraphs, it is to be remarked that the proposal with the distribution of the perpetual stipends mentioned. The plan suggested in the clause of the 27th paragraph would be in accord with what is usual, and might be commended by Lt. Colonel Baynes to the consideration of H.H. the Prince of Arcot.

3. Turning to the 21st 22nd & 23rd paragraphs, the Government are not disposed to carry out to extensive a reduction in the Agency Establishment as that suggested by Lt. Colo. Baynes, but they proceed to submit to the Govt. of India a proposal to abolish the present office of Govt Agent and Paymaster of Carnatic stipends, and to create a new appointment under the designation of Paymaster of Carnatic stipends. The salary to be attached to this office will be Rs 250 per mensem and for the present a field officer, doing duty at the Presidency might be appointed to the post, aided by an assistant paymaster on Rs 175 and three clerks on salaries of Rs 35, 15 & 10 per mensem.

4. Pending receipt of sanction to these proposals, the Government are unable to reduce the pay of the Agents' establishment of which accordingly proposed to abolish the present Appointment and to substitute for the present Agent & Paymaster of Cannanore, stipends an Officer to be designated by the latter title, on Rs 250 a month. This Appointment could be held by a field officer doing duty at the

Tellicherry Establishment Cannanore proposed
which will cause a saving
of Rs 6-8-0 per mensem

Mahammadan Assistant in the office would be retained to aid the Paymaster, & the Govt Court whether it will be found necessary to keep him
In the clerical Establishment reductions are proposed
which will cause a saving
of Rs 6-8-0 per mensem.

3. I am to invite a perusal of the Proceedings of this Govt No 357
