GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

Read—the following paper :—

From J. ANDREW, Esq., Government Agent, Tanjore, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Camp, Negapatam, 26th January 1898, No. 12.

With reference to the concluding sentence of G.O., No. 550, Political, dated 17th August 1897, calling for the necessary age and health certificates in view to the commutation of the pension of Rs. 8–2–0 granted to one M. Yemuna Boyi Ammani of the Tanjore Palace, I have the honour to enclose, for the orders of Government, a petition addressed to the Sirkele by the said lady requesting a re-consideration of the order to commute.

2. The Sirkele reports that the petitioner's allegations are true and that any lump sum placed in her hands will at once go towards the liquidation of family debts, &c., without permanently benefiting her.

3. The prevailing practice, for many years after the settlement of Tanjore pensions, was to refuse commutation of pension in all cases where there might be reason to apprehend that the bonus granted to females would be squandered and the recipient speedily reduced to destitution (vide G.O., No. 242, Political, dated 20th April 1860).

4. A change in the practice took place on receipt of G.O., No. 267, dated 26th April 1892, which ruled that all pensions below Rs. 20 should be compulsorily commuted.

5. Again, in G.O., No. 615, dated 1st September 1894, granting pensions to the relations of Her Highness the late Yeswantiamba Boyi Saheba, one Abba Sahib, a male pensioner on Rs. 15 was allowed the option of commuting contrary to the General Order of 1892.

6. As, however, the object of Government is evidently to see that the members of the Raja's family are not reduced to destitution, I forward the petition for such orders as the Government may deem fit to pass. As a special case, I think that commutation need not be insisted on.

Enclosure.

From M. YEMUNA BOYI AMMANI, Tanjore Palace, to Sirkele, Government Agency, Tanjore, dated 18th October 1897.

With reference to the order of Government, No. 631, dated 28th September 1897, I have the honour to state that, to my great misfortune, the Government have been so persistent as not to grant me the concession prayed for in my petition to them, though they lose nothing by cancelling the order already passed. I have now to request the Government Agent, through you, to show me at least the favour of not subjecting my poor pension to compulsory commutation. If that is done, I assure you, sir, my numerous creditors, whose demands I have not been able to meet, will beset me for the payment of their dues, and the amount that I may get by selling my right will have to be paid to them in partial satisfaction of their heavy claims against me; and it is not too much to say that this course of action cannot but reduce me to an impecunious condition and drive me to the necessity of appealing for help to the Government, whose bounden duty it is to support the members of the royal house of Tanjore.

In these circumstances, I most earnestly request you to advocate my cause by recommending me to the Government Agent to continue my pension for life.

NOTES CONNECTED WITH G.O., MIS. NO. 115, POLITICAL, DATED 15th FEBRUARY 1898.

For Orders.

Clause (b) of paragraph 1 of G.O., No. 359, Political, dated 22nd May 1885, decided that no Carnatic stipend of less value than Rs. 15 per mensem in the case of a male pensioner and Rs. 10 in the case of a female should be continued and that when a share continuable from any stipend is less than Rs. 15 or Rs. 10 as the case may be, such share should be commuted. These limits, under which continuable stipends are compulsorily commuted, have been extended by practice to all classes of political pensions. Accordingly, when in 1892 the stipend of Her Highness Aparamba Bai Sahiba, one of the Tanjore Ranis, was distributed on her decease, it was decided that, subject to the production of certificates of health, the shares of all those who fell within the above limits should be compulsorily commuted— vide paragraph 2 of G.O., No. 267, Political, dated 26th April 1892.

2. Again in 1895 when the stipend of V. Ry. Ramachandra Ingle Rao Sahib, another Tanjore pensioner, was distributed, it was decided to compulsorily commute the shares (Rs. 8–2–0) of his widow and daughter as they fell below the limit in the case of females.

G.O., No. 582, Political, dated 3rd September 1895.

3. With the present current the Government Agent, Tanjore, submits a petition from the widow referred to above, in which she prays for a re-consideration of the order necessitating the commutation of her share of Rs. 8–2–0, as any bonus paid to her will at once be absorbed in the liquidation of her debts and she will be reduced to a state of abject poverty. The Government Agent supports the petitioner's prayer and in doing so alludes to G.O., No. 242, Political, dated 20th April 1860, which deprecated commutation in cases where there might be reason to apprehend that the bonus would be squandered by others and the recipient reduced to destitution. The Government Agent also refers to the order of 26th April 1892 which is alluded to above and to G.O., No. 615, Political, dated 1st September 1894, in which one Abba Sahib who received a share of Rs. 15 was allowed the option of commuting his pension. The Government Agent considers that this option was in contravention of the order of 1892. The Government Agent has obviously misinterpreted the orders and is apparently not acquainted with the rules as it will be seen from the list on page 1 of G.O., No. 267, Political, dated 26th April 1892. that excluding the shares of those mentioned by name in paragraph 2 of G.O., No. 267, Political, dated 26th April 1892, not a single share—male or female—exceeded Rs. 10. He points out, however, that the object of Government is to see that the members of the Tanjore family are not reduced to destitution and he considers that, as a special case, commutation need not be insisted on in the present case.

It is not the policy of Government to commute female stipends unnecessarily and this is evident from G.O., No. 422, Political, dated 29th June 1895.

(Intld.) C.M.S.
14–2–98.

The present case is obviously one in which commutation should not be enforced.

Order—No. 115, Political, dated 15th February 1898.

With reference to the remarks in the foregoing letter from the Government Agent, it will be pointed out to him that the rules as regards compulsory commutation are that no pension of less value than Rs. 15 per mensem in the case of a male and Rs. 10 in the case of a female shall ordinarily be continued. The Government is always prepared to consider special cases and especially those in which female pensioners are concerned. In the present case commutation will not be insisted upon and the Government Agent will inform the petitioner accordingly.

TANJORE PENSIONERS

FOR ORDERS

Clause (b) of para: 1 of G.O.No.350 Poll., d/8nd May 1881, decided that no Cumatic stipend of less value than Rs.15 per mensem in the case of a male pensioner and Rs.10 in the case of a female should be continued and that when the a share stipend is continuable from any commuted stipend is less than Rs.15 or Rs.10, as the case may be, such share should be commuted continued. 2 Again in 1898 when the stipend of V.Ry. Ramachandra Ingle Rao Sahib, another Tanjore pensioner, was distributed it was decided to compulsorily commute shares (Rs.8/2) of his widow and daughter as

G.O.No.582 Pol., d/3-9-95

as they fell below the limit in the case of females.

3. With the present current the Govt. Agent, Tanjore, submits a petition from the widow referred to above, in which she prays for a reconsideration of the order necessitating the commutation of her share of Rs.8/2, as any bonus paid to her will at once be absorbed in the liquidation of her debts and she will be reduced to a state of abject poverty. The Govt. Agent supports the petitioner's prayer and in doing so alludes to G.O.No.242 Poll., d/20th April 1860, which deprecated commutation in cases where there might be reason to apprehend that the bonus would be squandered by others and the recipient reduced to destitution. The Govt. Agent also refers to the order of 26th April 1892 which is alluded to above and he also refers to G.O.No.615 Poll., d/1st Septr. 1894, in which one Abba Sahib who received a share of Rs.15 was allowed the option of commuting his pension, and he considers that this option was in contravention of the Order of 1892. The Govt. Agent has obviously misinterpreted the Orders and is apparently not acquainted with the rules. He points out, however, that the object of Govt. is to see that the Members of the Tanjore family are not reduced to destitution and he considers that as a special case commutation need not be insisted on in the present case.

It is not the policy of Govt. to commute female stipends unnecessarily and this is evident from G.O.No.422 Poll., d/ 29th June 1891. The following draft order is submitted for approval:-

ORDER No 115 dt 15.2.98.

With reference to the remarks in the foregoing letter from the Govt. 3. With the present current the Government Agent, Tanjore, submits a petition from the widow referred to above, in which she prays for a re-consideration of the order necessitating the commutation of her share of Rs. 8–2–0, as any bonus paid to her will at once be absorbed in the liquidation of her debts and she will be reduced to a state of abject poverty. The Government Agent supports the petitioner's prayer and in doing so alludes to G.O., No. 242, Political, dated 20th April 1860, which deprecated commutation in cases where there might be reason to apprehend that the bonus would be squandered by others and the recipient reduced to destitution. The Government Agent also refers to the order of 26th April 1892 which is alluded to above and to G.O., No. 615, Political, dated 1st September 1894, in which one Abba Sahib who received a share of Rs. 15 was allowed the option of commuting his pension. The Government Agent considers that this option was in contravention of the order of 1892. The Government Agent has obviously misinterpreted the orders and is apparently not acquainted with the rules as it will be seen from the list on page 1 of G.O., No. 267, Political, dated 26th April 1892, that excluding the shares of those mentioned by name in paragraph 2 of G.O., No. 267, Political, dated 26th April 1892, not a single share—male or female—exceeded Rs. 10. He points out, however, that the object of Government is to see that the members of the Tanjore family are not reduced to destitution and he considers that, as a special case, commutation need not be insisted on in the present case.

It is not the policy of Government to commute female stipends unnecessarily and this is evident from G.O., No. 422, Political, dated 28th June 1895.

The present case is obviously one in which commutation should not be enforced.

Order—No. 115, Political, dated 15th February 1898.

With reference to the remarks in the foregoing letter from the Government Agent, it will be pointed out to him that the rules as regards compulsory commutation are that no pension of less value than Rs. 15 per mensem in the case of a male and Rs. 10 in the case of a female shall ordinarily be continued. The Government is always prepared to consider special cases and especially those in which female pensioners are concerned. In the present case commutation will not be insisted upon and the Government Agent will inform the petitioner accordingly.
