Rs 20 for her maintenance, exclusive of other help in shape of clothing &c.

3. That while alive, the said Monbi Nuzzuck Khan Bahadoor had registered the names of his wife and the petitioner his only dependents to whom stipend might be sanctioned by Government on or after his death, but his wife died long before him, and the petitioner, she should, under the army rules, have been entitled to one half of the pension drawn by her husband.

4. That after the death of her father, the petitioner was granted by Government in 1895 a monthly stipend of Rs 15 only the petitioner respectfully begs leave to state that it is not even one sixth of the high stipend drawn by her father.
