Superintendent, Revenue Survey.

No. 73. To the Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department. dated Fort Saint George, 6th April 1868, No. 448.

I am directed to return the printed statement forwarded with your letter of the 3rd February, No. 7-495, which purports to show the area, population, and number of efficient Officers in the several districts of this Presidency, and to state that as it was thought impossible to correct the statement legibly, a separate statement in the same form, corrected to 31st December 1867, has been prepared, and is forwarded herewith.

2. I am to remark that every care has been taken in the preparation of the statement, and that it may be considered almost absolutely accurate, in so far as it relates to the number of Officers. The areas are taken by scale from the Sheet Atlas of India, and the populations have been taken from the latest returns.

3. I am also to forward a Note relative to the remarks in your Memorandum on the Madras Districts, and on the absence of divisions in Madras.

2. I am to remark that every care has been taken in the preparation of the Statement and that it may be considered almost absolutely accurate, in so far as it relates to the number of officers. The ~~are taken by~~ ^{are taken by} ~~scale from the~~ ^{scale from the} ~~Sheet Atlas of India~~ ^{Sheet Atlas of India} areas, and the populations have been taken from the latest ~~Statistics~~ ^{Statistics} returns.

I am also to forward a note relative to the remarks in your Memo. on the Madras Districts, and on the absence of divisions in Madras.

A.H.

Fort St. George
5 April 1868

There are no "divisions" in Madras. The Civil and Session Judges are distinct officers, i.e. their jurisdiction is in 17 districts continuous with the district - while three districts (Malabar, Tanjore and Coimbatore) are divided each into two separate jurisdictions each for one Judge.

With reference to the remarks in ^{random} Mr. Kebley's Memo. on the Madras Districts and their arrangement, there appears to be some little misconception. A District in Madras has as its head Administrative Officer a Collector and Magistrate, whose jurisdiction and control extends over the whole whole of the District.

The Sub Collector and joint Magistrate and the Head Assistant Collector and Magistrate are invested with full Magisterial powers and hear appeals from the Sub Magistrates in their Division. Each has a separate Revenue and Magisterial charge, extending over a portion of the district and in most districts there are Deputy Collectors and Magistrates (who are here Commissioned Officers) who have similar separate charges, but must confer these Officers are invested only with 1st class Subordinate Magisterial powers.
But the whole correspondence of the district with authorities without without it, the direct control of all revenue matters and a general Magisterial supervision are in the hands of the Collector and Magistrate.

The large number of Assistant Collectors & Magistrates in the districts of Madras, North West, South West and Salem is unusual. The famine of the North West Province had caused grave apprehensions of Agricultural distress in the districts named, and during the month of December Assistant had been drawn from other districts to aid in carrying out relief measures in the districts where distress was anticipated.
