Proceedings of the Madras Government, Public Department, 17th July 1869.

No. 127. Read the following letter from the Chief Secretary to the Government of Bombay, to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George ; dated Bombay Castle, 14th June 1869, No. 2337A.

I am directed to request that, with the permission of His Excellency the Governor in Council, you will be so good as to inform this Government what the existing practice is in Madras, in respect to the acquisition of land under Act VI. of 1857 ; in other words, what are considered to be the public purposes for which land can be taken up under that Act, and whether provision of land for the erection of buildings for the residences of public servants is reckoned as coming under the definition of public purposes under the Act.

No. 128. To the Chief Secretary to the Government of Bombay, dated Fort Saint George, 17th July 1869, No. 992.

With reference to the inquiry contained in your letter of the 14th ultimo, No. 2337A, I am directed to state that the public purposes for which land is taken up in this presidency under Act VI. of 1857 are " for the construction or improvement of roads, carriage, or rail, for irrigation works of various kinds, for the improvement of towns, for the formation or enlargement of cemeteries, for public buildings, such as cutcherries, jails, sites for cart-stands, &c." Land is also taken for Regimental and Police lines, and for the houses of officials who are provided with public quarters, such as Superintendents of Jails, or Jailers.

2. Land required for the erection of buildings for the residences of public servants has not been treated as coming under the definition of the public purposes to which the Act in question is applicable.
