Proceedings of the Madras Government, Public Department,
21st July 1869.

Read the following papers :—

No. 152. Proceedings of the Government of India, Financial Department; dated Simla, 19th June 1869, No. 1295.

Read again Financial Resolution, No. 1010, dated 17th February 1869, sanctioning the constitution of the Madras Lunatic Asylum as the sole medical charge of an officer specially selected for this duty, on a salary equivalent to that of a Medical Officer in medical charge of a second class Civil station.

Read an endorsement by the Home Department, No. 2343, dated 18th May 1869, on a letter from the Government of Madras soliciting a re-consideration of the above orders, and recommending that the Superintendent of the Lunatic Asylum at Madras may be placed on the same footing, as regards salary, as the officer holding a similar charge at Bombay, and receive the pay of a Medical Officer in charge of a first class Civil station.

Resolution.—In sanctioning this proposal, the Governor General in Council remarks that the first class salary for the Lunatic Asylum at Madras should be provided by reducing at least one of the Mofussil Medical charges from first class to second class.

The first Committee for the revision of Civil Medical Salaries, over which the Honourable Mr. Strachey presided, placed Civil stations in three classes :—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1st Class, with a Staff pay of Rupees | | | 400. |
| 2nd Class, | do. | ,, | 250. |
| 3rd Class, | do. | ,, | 150. |

The Secretary of State for India having disapproved of Staff salaries, the stations were re-arranged for two classes of consolidated salary, the first class being limited generally to the stations which had been included in the first class of the original scheme.

Not a single station in the Madras Presidency had been placed in the first class by the original Committee, and, with rare exceptions, the stations arranged by that Committee as second class have remained as second class in the Bombay and Bengal Presidencies in the revised classification. Yet the Inspector General, Indian Medical Department, Madras, proposed that all the second class stations in that Presidency according to the original scheme should be made first class in the new arrangement.

The Government of India, relaxing the strict rule which had been applied in the Bengal and Bombay Presidencies, agreed to a charge for six first class stations, and the Government of Madras selected those noted in the margin : the three stations last-named were selected doubtless on account of the existence there of Central Jails; but that consideration need not have been allowed weight, a separate extra allowance of Rupees 100 a month being given for the medical charge of the Central Jails.

There is ample margin, therefore, for allowing a first class salary for the Lunatic Asylum, Madras, without adding to the number of such salaries hitherto allowed in the Madras Presidency.
