Proceedings of the Madras Government, Public Department, 14th May 1870.

No. 66. Read the following letter from the Inspector-General of the Indian Medical Department, to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George, dated Fort Saint George, 29th April 1870, No. 105 :—

I have the honour to acknowledge receipt of Proceedings of Government, Public Department, and Order, No. 403, of 7th April, with enclosures.

2. From a perusal of the correspondence I infer that the Cochin Municipality are desirous to establish a Quarantine Hospital for the reception of cases of epidemic disease, but more especially of small-pox, landed from vessels touching at the port.

3. As stated in the Proceedings of Government, there already exists a Small-pox Hospital in Cochin, which is situated in a distinct compound near the Dispensary, and is described in a recent report by the Deputy Inspector-General of the Division as "commodious and well appointed." There is also attached to the Dispensary a separate bungalow for the separation of patients affected with epidemic disease, which is reported to be "from its construction, and the means of free ventilation that exist, well suited for this purpose."

4. Under these circumstances, and in the absence of restrictive quarantine rules, it appears to me that the erection of a third hospital for such diseases is unnecessary.

No. 67. ORDER THEREON, 14th May 1870, No. 611.

His Excellency the Governor in Council concurs with the Inspector-General of the Indian Medical Department in considering that the provision of a Quarantine Hospital at Cochin is unnecessary at present.
