1st February 1871.

No. 3. Read the following letter from the Acting Collector of South Canara, to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George, dated Mangalore, 24th January 1871, No. 147:—

I have the honour to state, for the information of Government, that, having received intelligence of the outbreak of cholera in North Malabar, and that the disease was advancing northwards, I have taken the following steps in the hopes of preventing its further progress.

2. The southern boundary of the district is partly formed by a river which flows into the sea near Cavoy; but, as it would be very difficult to regulate the coast road traffic near that place, I have chosen Chendragiri, on the southern bank of the Puishwani or Cassergode river, as the most suitable locality. I have sent the Dresser attached to my office to the village, and have made arrangements for his accommodation and also for the establishment of a temporary hospital. There is a Deputy Tahsildar at Hosdroog, sixteen miles south of Chendragiri, and a Tahsildar at Cassergode, two miles to the north. These Officers have been directed to see that all houses near the lines of road in their divisions are thoroughly cleaned, and, if possible, white-washed. The Deputy Tahsildar at Hosdroog has been directed to detain any travellers who he may find from inquiries have been recently in the company of infected persons, and to see that their clothes and utensils, &c., are thoroughly disinfected before they proceed further. Notice will at once be sent to the Dresser who will be on the look-out for the men on their arrival at Chendragiri, and if, after his examination, they are considered free from any taint of disease, they will be allowed to cross the ferry. Instructions have already been issued regarding the disinfection of houses where the disease has broken out, and the destruction by fire of the clothes of the deceased, and the attention of the officers abovementioned has again been specially drawn to the subject.

3. The expenditure required will be slight, and can be met out of the general savings in my budget for the current year. I believe that Rupees 50 will more than cover any expenditure I may have to incur; but, in order to avoid a second reference, I beg that that sum may be sanctioned. Bills of actual expenditure will be submitted in due course.

4. I am glad to say that there have been no cases of cholera as yet in the district.

No. 4. ORDER THEREON, 1st February 1871, No. 138.

The expenditure of 50 Rupees is sanctioned.
