My dear Mr. Davidson.

I write to report my arrival here last Thursday morning. I was told today that I ought to have done this before, so I must ask pardon for the delay, which was caused purely by ignorance. My office establishment were to have been up on Saturday, but they have been unfortunately delayed by the non-issue of their warm clothing from the Army clothing Board. This has been now remedied, and I expect them up tomorrow. Meanwhile I have left them translation work to do.

Yours sincerely

J. C. Russell.
