Sir,

In continuation of my letter of the 14th May last, I respectfully beg to forward the clothes which were presented to me by the Hindoo brothers, during my recent visit to Malacca and which I was constrained to accept under similar circumstances. These clothes have been estimated at Rs 31 by the that I might I could not persist in refusal without offending him

Sir,

Sarabhalingam Naion, English Head Clerk in my Office has forwarded to me for disposal with the enclosed letters Cloth valued at Rs 77 which have been presented to him by the Jemindar of Chundi and his brother and as the circumstances which I will now describe are very peculiar, I have the honor to request that Sarabhalingam Naion may be allowed to keep these Cloth.

and his Brother were under the Court of wards until the year before last.

At the Commencement of this year the younger brother, considering himself ill-treated by the guardian files a suit against him for the division of the estate. Both the young gentlemen came to me for advice and on enquiry I was led to believe that if the suit went on the Estate would be ruined and the claimants reduced to beggary. Accordingly I advised a compromise and the boys agreed to abide by my award. Just then I had to leave home for the Juma: bandi, and thinking Sarabha: lingam Naion the most likely man I knew, I asked him to try to get the dispute settled. He did so after weeks of anxious labour, for the boys are not only extremely obstinate but are surrounded by unprincipled retainers. Even after the dispute was settled Sarabhalingam Naion (having been appointed arbitrator by the parties) had to go to Chundi to divide the moveable property.

This took him 3 weeks of most-trouble: some work which he could only get by taking privilege leave. His costs were given in recognition of these services.

3 ¹⁹²⁵ Therefore the present was given to Sarabhalingam Naion not as to a government servant, but as to a private individual who has conferred a great benefit on the Estate. I think he may be allowed to keep it.

Thence the letter to his
