With reference to the accompanying copy of a Circular Memorandum issued under the orders of the Surgeon General with the Government of Madras ^{Chief of Medical} regarding the ^{duty of} officers in civil employ to act in certain circumstances under the military authorities without reference to the Head of their own Department, I am directed to request that with the permission of His Excellency the Governor in Council, the scope of the Circular may be more clearly defined for the information of the Government of India. It is not quite clear from the wording of the Circular whether it is intended to convey a simple instruction from the Head of the Civil Medical Department to his officers that they should consider themselves available for such simple duty service on a Board &c.

[illegible]

orders from higher civil authority except when such service would seriously interfere with their proper civil duties; or whether the circular has a more extended meaning which would involve the temporary appointment of a civil medical officer to the charge of a regiment or anything beyond a pure temporary duty of a nature which could not impede the due discharge of his civil functions.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

J. P. Hewett.

Under Secy. to the Govt. of India.

Circular No. 3.

a Memorandum, ²⁷/_{260/61}

The Surgeon General has the honor to inform a medical officers in civil employ that in a letter from the Adjutant General, dated 26th August 1880, No. 447, His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, expressed an opinion that it would be of the greatest public importance that that the two Medical Departments Civil and Military should work harmoniously together, and that for the despatch of business it would be of advantage that the officers of both departments should be available for boards or other such duties without previous or even subsequent reference to the heads of the departments.

2. The Surgeon General is now requested to issue a circular to civil medical officers in the terms of the above despatch in order to bring the arrangements into force; and as the accommodation is of mutual advantage to the department and is undoubtedly calculated to promote the convenience of the public.

public service, Medical officers are requested to be good enough to act on the orders of the Military Department placing them on board etc, without waiting for the formal sanction of the head of their own department.
