LETTER—to

THE HONORABLE THE COLONIAL SECRETARY,
NATAL.

SIR,

With reference to your letters, dated 18th February and 7th March 1889, No. 416, I am directed to forward, for the information of His Excellency the Governor of Natal, copies of Proceedings of this Government, dated 25th April 1889, No. 370, Public, recording a report from the Protector of Emigrants, Madras, in regard to the deaths on board the Quathlamba, and of G.O., No. 615, issued this day.

2. In regard to paragraph 2 of your first letter, I am to say that, though the water-supply of Madras is not perfect, the water furnished to the Quathlamba was obtained from the same source and in the same way as that always supplied to the shipping. As no complaint or suspicion that this has been the cause of disease has hitherto been brought forward, it appears to this Government to be in the highest degree improbable that the outbreak on board the Quathlamba was in any way attributable to the water taken on board that vessel at Madras.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

OOTACAMUND,
16th July 1889.

READ—the following paper:—

From Sir RICHARD BARLOW, Bart., C.S., Protector of Emigrants, Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Madras, 5th July 1889, No. 510.

In continuation of my No. 267, dated 11th April last, and referring to your official memorandum, dated the 26th ultimo, I have the honor to observe that, from the further report of the Surgeon Superintendent of the barque Quathlamba, recorded in G.O., Public, No. 469, dated 31st May last, it appears true that the meat of diseased sheep, that had died, was served out to the emigrants.

2. Dr. Ingram considers that no harm could have resulted from this. I do not agree with him; such meat may possibly be eaten, under certain circumstances on shore, without evil results, but board ship—with a lot of emigrants crowded together, and without much opportunity for exercise—is not the place for such a practice, and if Government concur with me, I submit that it should be prohibited in future.

ORDER—dated 16th July 1889, No. 615, Public.

The Government agrees with the Protector of Emigrants. Any cases which may hereafter come to his knowledge of animals which have died a natural death, or which have been killed in anticipation of such death, being used for food on emigrant ships, should be reported.
