GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
DUELLA
20th Oct. 1889.

his few Rupees being not at all sufficient to meet the necessities of life There is one thing needed, the Consumption of a man's happiness and the better faces of his parents arising from want of nutriment.

The reason why the applicant prays Your Excellency to hear his miserable circumstances is that, from his experience, he has found the noble European Gentlemen to take compassion on the helpless. As is not the case with his Indians for the most. The applicant on many occasions before this drafted applications to Your Excellency on this subject, but had not the boldness to forward them, having believed the words of some of his friends that they will find their way to the waste paper basket. Now at last, the applicant, having not an alternative since he is so bitten by Poverty, and Your Excellency's beneficence contentment to help the helpless, having been resounded throughout, the applicant presumes to address Your Excellency his grievances, hoping it will not fail to move Your Excellency's pity and if it did, his poverty will fly away like snow in front of the sun, and if it did not, he may fall a victim to the merciless Poverty which encircles his family. It is an easiest thing for Your Excellency to spare a word or two to any of Your Subordinates in Saam Coré. It has the applicant entertained as a tolerably good post whereas it is the greatest for him in this world and Your Excellency's name as the saviour of the poor applicant, will be imprinted in the mind of his relatives, nay, in all the Travancoreans.

As a testimonial of his personal conduct, the applicant begs to forward herewith, the Certificate Granted by His Honour J. A. Dutta, the head master of the High school Kottar, who is now the Superintendent.

For which act of charity and benevolence the Applicant shall as in duty bound ever pray for Your Excellency's long life and prosperity.

V. Deelacunda Pillay

His Excellency
The Governor of Madras etc - etc - etc - etc Madras

The most humble solicitation of V. Kulemunda Pillay, a poor and helpless boy of Bhoothapandy a village in the District of Covalam in South Travancore.

Most Respectfully sheweth,

That the solicitor, with due respect and profound submission, begs to lay this before Your Excellency's lotus like feet, prostrating himself towards the direction of Your Excellency's residence and earnestly begging to be condescendingly pardoned for the intrusion he makes on Your Excellency's valuable moments.

That the solicitor is a native of Travancore where English Education is not so well appreciated as in many other parts of Travancore. Amidst such kind of people the applicant being advised by his worthy father, began to prosecute his studies in different schools and succeeded in matriculating himself. For further continuance of study, the want of pecuniary aid, barred his scholastic career and obliged him to seek after an employment and enter into that of a soldier. After having wandered up and down the territory, the applicant at last has been entertained in the Educational Department on a poor salary Rs 10. Most Respected Sir, if the applicant were a single soul, he would have thought this and even a less sum a great boon and resiled content. He has to support a large family consisting of his father, mother, brothers and sisters. The father who is now in his dotage and who has spent a good sum of money to the education of the applicant, is now left penniless and the burden of supporting them, lies on the shoulders of the poorly paid applicant. The cost of the education imparted to the applicant was rather too much to his limited means on account of his having studied in different places where there were schools. There being an only school in his native place, whose highest standard is the Conson Fourth. The father and other members of the family who provided the applicant with everything needed for him while in school, in the fervent hope of being remunerated and compensated by the latter in their latter days, are now
