Proceedings of the Collector of Pudukottah dated 17th
September 1889.

Read the Office Proceedings No. 5102 dated 12th August 1889.

The Treasure has been produced and deposited for safe custody in the Treasury.

The parties having appeared, Subbayya, as before, claimed for himself and his mother Achamma the owner's share of the first found treasure and the owner's and finder's share of the second found treasure. Venkataratnam, plaintiff in the suit before the District Munsiff, states that although the application for the Commissioner to excavate the site was made by him, all parties including Subbayya and Achamma concurred, and he, Venkataratnam by friendly arrangement relinquished his claims to the land. The ^{other} parties concur in this statement.

Order

About 20th January 1887 certain treasure consisting of numerous gold pagodas was found by some coolies working in the land of Subbayya and Achamma. They concealed the treasure but subsequently 56 gold pagodas and other property for which pagodas had been exchanged, in all worth Rs. 841-4-1 was recovered. There is reason to believe that the treasure was deposited there by Subbayya's great grandfather.

As the finders of the treasure concealed ~~concealed~~ their discovery, I order that the three-fourth share which they would have been entitled to under section 12 is forfeited to the Queen's Empress. The remaining one fourth or Rs. 210-5-0 will be paid to Subbayya and Achamma.

At the request of Subbayya and Achamma and other parties to a friendly suit before the Guntur District Munsiff the same site was further excavated by a Commissioner of the Court and 799 ^{gold} pagodas more were found which there is reason to believe were deposited by the same person at the same time as the first named treasure. I declare Subbayya and Achamma to be the finders of this latter treasure as well as the owners of the land on which it was found and order that it be made over to them entirely.

Of the first found treasure, Subbayya claims one fourth of the pagodas actually found. The following is therefore given to him.

14 pagodas valued Rs. 5 each = ^{No} 70
Rs. 1, = 140-5
210-5

He declined to take any of the other jewelry found preferring cash.

The following property is sent to the Treasury for Government.

42 pagodas valued at Rs. 5	210
2 silver Kadyata native	8
1 gold palladi	46-12
1 silver waist belt	82-1
Cash	338-3-1

The second found treasure was then handed over to Subbayya after being counted and his receipt ordered to be taken for himself and Achamma.
