It cannot be said
that the Ceylon Govt.
have not, from their point of view, ^{same} ~~lead~~ on this side.

2. The anti-quarantine theories are so strongly maintained in India that the other side of the question is at times overlooked. Much of what Lord ^{Chelmsford} ~~Chelmsford~~ states in his despatches to the Govt. of India by Dec^r 2/84, No. 222 is really applicable to this case.

3. Here cholera, if not prevalent at the ports themselves is existent, or is possibly prevalent in their neighbourhood.
It is met with a "clean bill" brings over passengers who are down with cholera two days after arrival.

What wonder if Ceylon safeguards herself - as what she thinks is safeguarding herself - by establishing period of observation? It is not likely to be a mistake but it is a natural one
