Public.

Simla, the 8th July 1890.

SIR,

IN continuation of Home Department letter No. 500 dated 14th February last, I am directed to forward for the information of His Excellency the Governor in Council

the accompanying extracts from a correspondence with Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India as noted in the margin, regarding the mode of designating the Provincial Services which it is proposed to create in accordance with the recommendation of the Public Service Commission.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

C. J. Lyall
Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

STATE FOR INDIA.

Paragraph 2 of Despatch to the Secretary of State, No. 11 (Public), dated the 4th March 1890.

2. We desire to ask for a reconsideration of Your Lordship's orders upon one point. We are convinced that the designation of each branch of the Provincial Service by the name of the particular Province to which it belongs, e.g., Madras Civil Service, will lead to confusion, and we strongly recommend that the term "Provincial" be used in describing these services, e.g., Madras Provincial Service. This designation will have the three-fold advantage of obviating the use of the term Uncovenanted Service, of clearly denoting the character of the service to which it applies and of avoiding the inconvenience which must attach to the transfer of the terms Madras Civil Service, &c., from the services to which they have hitherto applied to services entirely distinct from them. We accept the proposal that the term "Imperial" proposed by the Public Service Commission should not be adopted, and that the title "Indian Civil Service" should be applied to the service hitherto known as the Covenanted Civil Service. We trust that Your Lordship will accept these suggestions which seem to us to provide in the manner least open to objection for the discontinuance of the terms Covenanted and Uncovenanted.

Paragraph 3 of Despatch from Secretary of State, No. 62 (Public), dated the 22nd May 1890.

3. I am unable to accept Your Excellency's suggestions as to the mode of designating the various branches of the service, and I prefer the designations given in the 36th paragraph of my Despatch of the 12th of September last. It is not, in my opinion, advisable to introduce the word "Provincial," because its use may be deemed to emphasise the distinction between the services somewhat in the same undesirable way as, up to the present time, it has been worked by the use of the term "Uncovenanted."
