explanation that the question is being treated solely with reference to the general rules of account, and that there is no desire to debit the Madras revenues with charges for which they are not fairly liable.

Simla, the 17th July 1890.

SIR,

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your endorsement No. 370 (Public), dated 20th May 1890, forwarding a copy of the Proceedings of the Madras Government of the same date in which the Accountant General is directed to see that no portion of the leave and pensionary allowances earned by Hospital Assistants transferred to Coorg during their service under the Coorg Administration is debited to the Madras Provincial revenues during the currency of the present contract.

2. In reply I am directed to say that it appears to be the intention of the Madras Government to distribute these charges between Imperial and Provincial revenues under the "rule of proportions" as defined in Article 56 of the Civil Service Regulations. The Government of India is unable to approve of the application of a rule for determining the incidence of a charge between general revenues and other funds to determine its apportionment between Imperial and Provincial.

3. The rule regarding the incidence of leave and pensionary charges is that the sanctioning Government is liable for the charge during the currency of the contract in force at the time. The charges will, in accordance with this rule, be Imperial if the Hospital Assistants take leave or retire while serving in Coorg, as the leave or pension will be sanctioned by the Chief Commissioner of Coorg. Leave or pension taken after re-transfer to Madras will similarly be sanctioned by the Government of Madras, and the charges will be debitable to the Madras Provincial revenues. His Excellency in Council will understand from this
